Troops Of U. N. Launch Push For Katanga Victory

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga (AP) — Relentlessly rolling up spectacular gains, blue-helmeted United Nations troops fought their way toward the heart of Elisabethville Friday in a drive for control of this secessionist capital.

The U. N. military push here and elsewhere coincided with diplomatic moves pressed by President Kennedy to negotiate an end to fighting if Congo unity is assured.

"This looks like the big U. N. push," said a long-time Belgian resident in comment on the climactic military phase. "The next few days will settle the fate of Katanga."

MANY WOUNDED

By nightfall, the U. N. vanguard held positions only 350 yards from the city's center.

Hundreds of wounded streamed to city hospitals and more than a score of dead were reported.

The offensive was kicked off from the northern outskirts while diplomats dickered in New York and other distant cities on the U. S. White House intervention that appeared aimed at a general Congo settlement.

At U. N. headquarters in New York, Acting Secretary-General U. Thant declared U. N. military operations in Katanga will continue "up to such time, and only up to such a time" that its objectives are achieved.

In Kivu, Northern Rhodesia, Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky of the Rhodesian Federation said Katanga President Moise Tshombe "could come here without any question" if the province falls to the U. N. forces.

A Katanga communiqué said heavy fighting also was under way at Kongolo, an important rail point in northern Katanga. The communiqué claimed that U. N. troops and 1,800 central Congo

Bus Driver Charged In Fatal Crash

GREELEY, Colo. (UPI)—Manslaughter charges were filed Friday against Duane R. Harms, 23, driver of a school bus which carried 20 children to their deaths at a railroad crossing.

Bond was set at $10,000. Harms posted it and was released.

HIT BY TRAIN
The bus — hit by a passenger train Thursday — was carrying 37 elementary and high school students from the Auburn school district, many of them brothers and sisters, all of them friends.

"I feel badly about the accident," the children and the parents," Harms said after the charges were filed. "Physically, I don't feel too badly."

Only one of the 17 children who survived the crash, 11-year-old Alice Larson, remained in critical condition at Weld County Hospital Friday.

The accident happened about 8 a.m. Thursday, shortly before the 60-passenger bus was due to reach the end of its run. Most of the children were destined for Delta elementary school, bearing Christmas presents for teachers and friends. Some of the children who normally would have ridden the bus already were at school.

Legislative Audit Group Is Proposed

By SAM HANNA
World Staff Writer

Rep. Mike John Jr. called for the creation of a legislative audit committee Friday to help keep tabs on state expenditures.

"I feel that there is several major departments of government and certain institutions which can perform the same services that they are now rendering with greater economy being practiced," John said.

John joined several northeast Louisiana lawmakers in commenting on a fiscal explanation given by Gov. Jimmie H. Davis on a radio — television address Thursday night.

"I thought the governor's address was frank and forthright and spoke for itself," John said.

He agreed with Rep. Lawrence Gibbs, Monroe, and Rep. T. T. Fields, Farmerville, on the gov-

2 Area Men Die In Water, Bodies Found

Delhi Resident, Winn Man Drown In River, Swamp

The bodies of two area drowning victims were recovered Friday — one in Dugdemonia Swamp in Winn Parish and the other in the Mississippi River near Vidalia.

The two men were Frank Carpenter of Calvin in Winn Parish and Donald Castle of Delhi.

Castle has a number of Twin Cities survivors.

The body of former school board member Frank Carpenter, 33, was recovered from waters of Dugdemonia Swamp near Winnfield Friday, according to the Winn Parish sheriff's department.

WAS MISSING
He had been missing since Tuesday night. Sheriff Sanford Jordan said his office was notified Thursday afternoon and immediately sent deputies along with volunteers to the area where Carpenter's pickup was found abandoned.

Mr. Carpenter, father of four children, who for the past several years had been in the house moving business, was apparently enroute home after buying groceries when his truck stalled in high water flowing over the road at Carter Crossing.

He died either from exposure or drowning in his attempt to escape from the stalled vehicle, officials said. The body was found floating in about five feet of water some 50 yards downstream from the road by Olen Brewton, owner of Brewton's Camp on Salline Lake.

Brewton had been helping sheriff's officers in the search for Mr. Carpenter. Officers gave up the hunt about 1 a.m. Friday after hours of fruitless effort in darkness and rain, resuming the search at daylight.

Winn Parish assistant coroner Dr. James H. Lashley said that an autopsy had been requested to determine the exact cause of death. The body was taken to

3rd Parish Joined In Bus Case

A bus terminal desegregation suit filed against Lincoln Parish and bus company officials is expected to be combined with similar cases in Ouachita and Rapides Parishes and be heard by a special three-judge federal court Jan. 5 in Alexandria.

The latest suit was filed at Shreveport against Lincoln by the United States on behalf of the Interstate Commerce Commission, seeking compliance with an ICC order to desegregate bus terminal facilities.

Similar suits attacking constitutionality of the state's terminal segregation laws have been filed in Rapides and Ouachita.

The Lincoln suit involves the Continental Bus Lines depot in Ruston. In all three parishes the state district court has enjoined the bus firm from complying with the ICC order.

Defendants in the Lincoln suit are Lincoln Parish District Judge J. R. Dawkins, Dist. Atty. Ragan D. Madden, the bus firm, Morgan W. Walker, president of the company; R. W. McClendon, vice president; and O. F. Nealy, operator of the terminal in Ruston.

The bus firm complied with the ICC order Nov. 1 by removing

Cheers Greet Kennedys In Puerto Rico

President, First Lady Will Go To Caracas Today

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Cheering hundreds of thousands gave President Kennedy a clamorous welcome Friday on the first stop of his Latin-American tour to advance the hemisphere Alliance for Progress. He called that effort "the great adventure of the Americas in our time."

An estimated 300,000 Puerto Ricans left barely a gap along the 8½-mile route the President and Mrs. Kennedy traveled from the airport to the residence of Gov. and Mrs. Luis Munoz Marin.

Chanting, "We want Kennedy," the crowd brought the President and First Lady back for another round of cheers.

NO HOSTILITY
Nowhere was there evidence of hostility with which Communists and leftists threaten to greet Kennedy on his arrival in Venezuela Saturday. Puerto Ricans in the old section of San Juan surged from the sidewalks to shout greetings. But none was unruly.

The President goes to Caracas Saturday morning and on to Colombia Sunday to promote the 10-year, $30-billion program for Latin-American self-help and U.S. aid. Its social and economic projects are aimed in part at stemming the forces of communism and Castroism in Latin countries.

"Bienvenidos," the Spanish expression for welcome, was the standard placard among thousands along the broad boulevard from the airport into San Juan and through the narrow streets of the old city. Some placards simply said, "Welcome John and Jackie." And one, lettered on tattered cardboard, proclaimed, "Welcome Uncle Kennedy."

Warmly greeted by Gov. Munoz Marin, Kennedy said Puerto Rico's progress under Munoz was a "brilliant example of what a progressive democracy can do through intelligent programs of economic development, self-help and social reform."

Girl Remains For 11 Years In Coma, Dies

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Delores Schmittling, 28, who lay in a coma in a local hospital for 11 years, died Friday.

Delores was a pretty, 17-year-old student at East Detroit High School when she started having headaches. They became more severe and doctors said it was malignant hypertension and operated.

The girl never woke up.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schmittling, always treated Delores as if she was asleep and might awaken at any time. They played a radio at her bedside and told her neighborhood gossip, feeling that her mind might be awake.

Schmittling left his job with a motor products company to take one with the McComb County Social Welfare Department, near door to the hospital so he could visit his daughter.

The nurses kept Delores' makeup fresh and her hair attractive. But only twice in 11 years did she show any signs of life, and she never spoke a word or gave a sign of recognition.

Forecast Says Cloudy, Rain

Outlook for the Twin City area today promises to be cloudy with occasional rain and slowly rising temperatures.

The high for today is expected to reach from 50 to 55 degrees and the low is predicted to be in the 40's.

The forecast for Sunday is predicted to be cloudy with occasional rain and slowly rising temperatures.

The weather yesterday proved to be cloudy with .03 inches of rain recorded. The high temperature reached 44 and the low temperature was recorded at 41 degrees.

ARMED COAST GUARDSMEN chase the hi-jacked charter boat San Dona off Miami Beach. A Negro boarded the boat and ordered the captain and mate to put out to sea. Capt. Richard Gledhill and Mate Jack Harrington waved their rescuers away as though the gunman had threatened to shoot if there was interference. The Negro was later shot by a Coast Guard rifleman in a helicopter. (AP Wirephoto)

Bullet Ends Voyage 'To Kill Castro'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A young Pennsylvania Negro, speaking with a West Indies accent, hijacked a 40-foot charter boat Friday "to go to Cuba and kill Fidel Castro," but a pursuing policeman shot him down with a high-powered rifle.

One bullet from officer William Leary's .30-06 Winchester struck the slender, well-built Negro in the chest and drilled through his back, grazing his spine.

CALL COAST GUARD
Alerted by the mate of another fishing boat, police called on Coast Guard boats and helicopters to run down the San Dona, the hijacker and his two prisoners, Capt. Richard Gledhill and mate Jack Harrington.

Officers said the Negro identified himself as William Stoner, 19, of Mercersburg, Pa. He carried no papers, they said.

Lifted from the San Dona in a basket, Stoner was flown by helicopter to shore for first aid and then taken to Jackson Memorial Hospital. He left the cruiser's deck bloody and one window pierced by a bullet.

Interviewed by ship-to-shore telephone, Gledhill said Stoner told him that he wanted to go to Cuba to kill Prime Minister Castro "because Castro had killed some of his friends."

"The man told us he was originally from Pennsylvania, but didn't give the city," Gledhill said. He added that neither he nor Harrington was hurt, "but he threatened to kill us if we did not cooperate."

Bob Lowenthal, mate of the fisherman Reward II, sounded the alarm. Lowenthal said he saw the hijacker point a pistol at Gledhill and Harrington and told them, "Get going, and I'm not kidding."

Other boatmen at the docks thought Lowenthal was kidding when he told them what he had seen. Then he called police.

Senator Soaper Says
The man at the next desk says his children are now old enough so that all they want for Christmas is money, which makes it tough, because money is the one present you can't charge.

"I am not an extreme rightist," Walter Tiptree shouted at a light — evening political discussion. "But I am extremely right."

It is illegal for Kansas liquor stores to have Christmas trees on display. The only thing the stores are allowed to light up is the customer.

Even before they fill their purpose of brightening the home, the Christmas trees do a splendid job of improving the appearance of the town's vacant lots.

Many deserving families will go without help on Christmas Day unless at least $376.50 is donated each day.

NO HAZARD TO FLIGHT
Theories On Outer Radiation Reversed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Data from a U. S. satellite launched last summer has reversed beliefs about the earth's outer radiation belt and shows it presents no hazard to manned space travel, the Federal Space Agency announced Friday.

The revolutionary information around it easier.

Received from Explorer XII, the most informative satellite launched. It was fired from Cape Canaveral, Fla., Aug. 15 through December 6. Protons are positively charged particles, while electrons are negatively charged particles.

Explorer XII discovered there are 1,000 times fewer electrons in the two radiation belts that ring the earth like giant doughnuts, than previously believed and that protons are the major constituents.

More-A. Van Allen, who discovered these protons are so low after studying information from an earlier satellite.

Dr. Frank McDonald of the Goddard space station said.

Communists Defeated In Vote, 48-36

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — The General Assembly beat down a bid to seat Communist China in the United Nations Friday after a historic first debate on the issue.

The assembly voted 48-36 against a Soviet resolution that would have replaced Chinese Nationalists with Chinese Communists on all U. N. bodies.

U. S. VICTORY
The outcome was a victory for the United States in the first showdown on China's U. N. representation since Chairman Mao Tse-tung's Communists took over the Chinese mainland and President Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalists moved the Republic of China to Formosa.

The vote for seating Red China was much smaller than many diplomats had expected. But U. S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson's comment after the meeting was limited to an expression of gratification that Nationalist China's rights in the United Nations had been reinforced.

Before rejecting the Soviet resolution, the assembly voted 48-36 against an amendment proposed by Cambodia, Ceylon and Indonesia to call for the same thing in more polite words. There were 20 abstentions on the resolution and 28 on the amendment.

Defeat of the pro-Communist proposition was foreboding when the assembly decided that any proposal to change the U. N. representation of China was an important question needing a two-thirds vote.

The resolution to that effect introduced by Australia, Colombia, Italy, Japan and the United States passed by a vote of 61-34 — well over the simple majority that

U. S. Judge Slaps Ban On CORE

BATON ROUGE (AP) — U. S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West Friday night signed a restraining order against the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) after police fired tear gas to break up mobs of Negro demonstrators.

The restraining order, requested by Mayor-President Jack Christian, Sheriff Bryan Clemmons and Police Chief Wingate White, bans CORE from engaging in any activity that might create a public disturbance.

Specifically, it forbids CORE "from continuing to sponsor, finance, or encourage unlawful picketing in the city of Baton Rouge, from engaging or participating in any unlawful congregating or marching in the streets, from conspiring, encouraging or participating in any boycott in restraint of trade or from doing any other act designed to provoke breach of the peace."

Fifty persons, including a CORE field secretary, the Rev. B. E. Cox of High Point, N. C., were arrested on charges of disturbing the peace and inciting riots. About 1,500 Negroes, mostly Southern University students, joined in what began as a protest against the arrest Thursday of 23 Negroes in picketing of local merchants.

Cox was booked on two counts of incitement to riot. He was charged with conspiring to incite a riot Thursday night and inciting a riot Friday.

The other 49 Negroes arrested were charged with disturbing the peace.

Bus Driver Charged In Fatal Crash

(Continued From Page One) The Union Pacific's crack streamliner, the City of Denver, was clipping along at 81 miles an hour on the final leg of its run to Denver when it struck the bus. Only four children were able to get up and walk away. There was no outcry against Harms in Greece. The majority of citizens were too stunned by the tragedy to think about the driver, who escaped serious injury. Many persons expressed shock when the charges were filed against him, saying they thought Harms had suffered enough already. Some thought there were extenuating circumstances. The train was two hours late because of heavy Christmas mail loadings. Harms had not met the train at the crossing on previous occasions. The side windows of the bus were frosted and Harms said the noise of heaters and fans inside the bus drowned out the train's whistle. He might have looked right at the train and not seen it, a hotel waitress said. KFEA manager Ralph H. Green said the radio station's switchboard was swamped with calls after the broadcast from persons expressing sympathy with and support of Harms. The consensus was that the damage had been done, and all that was left was to bury the dead. The funerals will begin Saturday.

Accardi was struck on his officer's shield by bullet fired by one of two holdup men who fled from a branch of the Lafayette National Bank in Brooklyn. Accardi cut through a glass door and suffered cuts on his leg and wrist but his badge saved his life by deflecting the bullet. A bank guard was killed. (AP Wirephoto)

"I would like for my brothers and sisters to have a Christmas like other children," she adds. A West Monroe resident writes, "I am a widow on blind assistance welfare, which isn't much. I am asking help and would appreciate anything, especially in the grocery line." Another writes, "Due to the bad weather we've had and the type of work my husband has been doing, which is possible only during fair weather, his income has been very meager. I have six children, the youngest two girls, eight years old," she adds, and asks for coats for the girls. "This is my first time to write and ask for anything. My husband had been in the hospital for five months and will never be able to anything as he is blind as well as disabled," a Monroe woman writes. "I have been going to the doctor and have heart trouble with all the other troubles I have," she continues. "I am 63 years old. We get a welfare check, which I am very grateful for, but it just barely meets our bills and we don't have anything for clothes. I would appreciate groceries and clothes because we need them so badly."

Communists Defeated In Vote, 48-36

(Continued From Page One) would have sufficed. There were seven abstentions. In previous years, the United States kept the question off the assembly's agenda by putting through yearly postponement resolutions. This year, believing it lacked the votes to do that, the United States prepared to meet the Soviet demand head on. The Soviet Union contended that the Chinese Communists could be seated by a simple majority vote. The United States feared at first that the Russians might get such a majority, countered with the move to require a two-thirds vote. The two-thirds vote proposal sailed through. It turned out not to have been necessary for this year, since the two proposals to seat the Communists fell from 12 to 15 votes short of even a simple majority. However, the two-thirds precedent was insurance for the future. It meant the Soviet Union was less likely to get the Chinese Communists here next year.

Damage Still Not Known In DeSiard Blaze

An estimate of damage still was pending yesterday in the Thursday night fire which ravaged an upstairs area of the Discount Hardware Store at 504 DeSiard, according to Monroe firemen. Triggered by a defective heater in the building, the blaze was confined to a hall on the second floor. Smoke and water damage, however, may prove to be considerable. Occupant of the building, Julius Haddad, indicated that the upstairs area was used mostly for storage. The Byaum Estate was listed as owner of the building. Answering the alarm shortly after 10 p.m. were engines 1 and 110, ladder truck 1, the American Legion emergency truck, and car 3. All were back on station by 2:30 a.m. Friday, firemen reported.

Limiting State Powers

In some respects, the decline of states' rights and powers over the past quarter-century may be traced to actions taken in the legislatures themselves.

Several states have struck blows at the already feeble image of state governments by refusing to allow legislative seats to follow the population to city districts.

The legislators themselves make it most difficult for advocates of more power in state capitols. How can the indifferent public be roused to changes that will transfer some power out of Washington when the strength would be moved to legislators which repeatedly block normal representation in the House of Representatives and in both houses of state lawmakers?

To take away part of the voting power of city dwellers by leaving state legislative seats assigned to areas where the population used to be is common in many states. Tennessee is especially notorious because citizens have appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States for correction.

The "gerrymander" is a device for shaping election districts to help candidates of whichever party has control of the state legislature. It is much older than Elbridge Gerry and the anti-Federalist struggle of 1812. It is a kind of politics scattered around the map.

Kansas Republicans drew attention early in this gerrymandering season. They took aim at the state's only Democratic member of Congress by creating a new district which contains more than half of the whole state, geographically, and 24 per cent more population than the average of the new districts.

California Democrats followed suit with a strange pattern in Los Angeles, designed to make it rough on Republicans both by shapes never seen before and by wide variations in populations between congressional districts.

Now the New York Republicans have established such outlandish shapes, like salamanders, tadpoles and kissing fish, that Congressional Quarterly has reviewed the whole situation, with drawings, for newspaper readers.

This may be "smart politics" since it obtains party advantage, and since it is most unlikely that re-election of any member of a Legislature will be defeated because of his part in an outrageous gerrymandering. But it is a poor way to foster representative government, or more power for the state layer of government.

Population And Perplexities

Last month, the population of the United States passed the 185-million mark. This means if the present rate of growth continues, our country will have no fewer than 200 million people only five years from now.

In commenting on this outlook, Commerce Secretary Hodges has pointed out:

"As we grow in number by the millions each year, the demand for goods and services grows too. Every year, we need over a million new dwelling units to house the growing population. We need more schools, more cars, more washing machines, more radios, more television sets, and more of the other things that are a part of our way of living. We need more teachers, more doctors, and other professionals, and more workers in industry and commerce."

It seems to us that the Secretary, in saying this, has massively understated the case. In point of fact, politically, economically, educationally, sociologically, culturally, militarily and other wise, the prospective growth of our population—in conjunction with a similar prospective growth throughout the world—can hardly fail to have the profoundest sort of impact on our way of living, on our national society, on the very nature and meaning of existence for our children and our children's children. And the character of our American system will have to be adjusted accordingly.

Certainly the multiplication of human beings is becoming so extraordinarily rapid that the whole world must marvel at it, worry over it and try diligently to cope with the great challenges it involves. Mr. Hodges has addressed himself merely to the surface of the problem in saying that it creates a need, as far as our own country is concerned, for such things as more cars, more TV sets, more schools, etc. The Secretary himself probably would be the first to admit that this vastly oversimplifies the situation, present and prospective.

In any case there can be no doubt that the multiplication of human beings throughout the globe (frighteningly so in Red China) is enormously explosive in its potentialities. A nuclear war, of course, could solve the problem readily enough, but since no sane person wants such a war, some better way will have to be found to cope with the immense perplexities involved in mankind's fecundity.

Why A Stock Exchange

Why does a stock exchange exist — and what purpose does it serve?

A good many people, seemingly, have no clear answer to such questions. Yet, as a new booklet issued by the New York Stock Exchange makes plain, the answer is not basically complicated. A stock exchange is simply a market place. To quote directly, "The Exchange is a market place where prices reflect the basic law of supply and demand. It is a market place where shares in American industry can be bought and sold almost as readily as you can deposit money in the bank. And that's true whether you live in a city of five million or a town of five thousand, whether you live in Portland, Maine, or Portland, Oregon."

How important is it that such market places should exist? One could write a book in answering that question, but a few facts should suffice. Something like 13 million people now are direct owners of shares in American Corporations, and most of them are people in the moderate and middle income brackets. Something like 100 million people are indirect owners through savings in pension funds, insurance companies and savings banks, which invest in stocks. All of these people, obviously, are interested in the welfare of American enterprise—and, whether they know it or not, the institutions where securities are bought and sold, are in a free market.

Finally, just about everyone says that we need stimulated economic growth. That can come only through stimulated investment of savings and earnings in new and better plants and all the other tools of production. Stock exchanges are highly important factors in stimulating that kind of investment by offering a day-by-day market where seller and buyer can meet and each exercise his judgement, the same as do cattle raisers and buyers in stockyards.

Russian Fallout Menace

Windborne Soviet Wheat Rust Endangers Principal Granaries Of World

WASHINGTON — A new Russian fallout menace is threatening the U.S.—which, while very serious, is unrelated to the recent atmospheric nuclear tests. This new fallout danger is wheat rust, being blown by high-velocity winds from the Soviet to the North American continent with increasingly alarming consequences to the wheat crops of the U. S. and Canada — principal granaries of the world. Agricultural authorities fear that if the Russian wheat rust fallout cannot be effectively curbed, U.S. and Canadian wheat production will be severely hit.

That, in turn would have grave world-wide repercussions, as many countries, pro-West, neutralist and Communist, are largely dependent on U. S. and Canadian grain to avert critical food shortages.

Among the most seriously affected would be Red China, which has bought millions of tons of Canadian wheat and, as this column disclosed several weeks ago, has put out feelers for huge quantities of U. S. grain. India, which contemplates buying $100 million of U. S. surplus crops for a number of years; Egypt; Poland; and undeveloped countries in Latin America, Africa and elsewhere.

This problem is deemed so urgent that Washington and Ottawa have sounded out Moscow on sending wheat experts to Russia for first-hand studies of the rust menace and to assist in devising measures to overcome it.

This significant backstage development has been ascertained by the special House committee, headed by Representative Paul Kitchin, D., N. C., investigating reports that NATO countries are materially aiding the development of Iron Curtain defense and heavy industries by selling them hundreds of millions of dollars of latest-model strategic and technological machines and equipment.

RED MENACE — Secretary Dean Rusk personally brought up the Soviet wheat rust fallout problem at a meeting with the House probers.

The State Department chief raised this subject as a graphic illustration of his contention that some bases of cooperation with Russia are necessary to protect our own interests and welfare. "There are certain areas where cooperation is essential in our own defense," Rusk asserted. "Wheat rust is a concrete instance."

"By that I take it you mean that rust fallout from Russia is hitting our country," said Representative Kitchin.

"That is correct," replied Rusk. "We are watching this matter very closely. It could become extremely serious. If the Soviet does not keep abreast of its own insect-borne viruses and we are suddenly hit with mutations of these viruses, we could be under grave threat with an affliction that originated in Russia."

"New strains of wheat rust have been found in our hemisphere with all indications that they are coming from the Soviet. Unless the Russians do a reasonably good job of keeping up with their own wheat rust, we can be seriously affected by rust fallout blown by high-velocity winds. We could be badly damaged, and many countries depending on us for food could be hurt, too."

HOW RUSK SEES IT — While giving no hint of what the Kennedy Administration may do about selling grain to Red China, Secretary Rusk was not disapproving of Canada's immense transshipments.

He condoned them on several grounds — humanitarian and absorbing Peiping's foreign exchange reserves for peaceful instead of trouble-making purposes.

"The food situation in China has been desperate," said Rusk, "and could become a great deal more so depending on what happens in this crop year. It's very significant that already Peiping has approached Canada on possible new grain purchases. Obviously, that wouldn't be done unless absolutely necessary."

"Is anything being done to try to convince our Canadian friends of the desirability of curtailing trade with Red China?" asked Chairman Kitchin.

"Several factors are involved in this trade," said Rusk. "It must be kept in mind that Canada is faced with a very difficult problem in finding markets for her agricultural surpluses, which are considerable. Also, I think they are concerned about the humanitarian aspects of a situation in which they are specifically asked to feed hungry people."

"Unquestionably that is a factor," pointed out Representative Delbert Latta, R., Ohio. "But it is also undeniable that the Communists brought this on themselves, and armies still march on their stomachs."

"That is true," agreed Rusk. "But if through the difficulties they are having with their agricultural production, they must strain themselves to buy foodstuffs with their foreign exchange instead of using it to spread subversion and revolution, then I think that's the safest use for it. It must also be kept in mind that refusal to help feed people who are starving may cause a serious health threat to neighboring countries."

"In what way?" "A cholera epidemic in China, as is now prevalent," replied Rusk, "isn't good for anyone. It is spreading to other countries and could spread further. We are doing everything we can to fight these cholera outbreaks in these countries."

"What you are saying in substance," said Representative Kitchin, "is that from a humanitarian standpoint and our historic friendly relations with Canada, we cannot object too seriously to their trade with Red China. We may not approve of it, but we can't do much about it."

"We have discussed it fully with them," explained Rusk. "We have made it clear we would not like to see them underwrite China's economy in this way. Neither do we wish to see them trade without quite a bit of cash being put on the barrelhead, instead of grants and long-term credits. But at the same time, we realize this trade has advantages as well as disadvantages."

"In the past few years, Red China has been increasingly active in revolutionary operations in many parts of the world. One of the causes of the friction between Peiping and Moscow is their direct competition in various areas. Red China is most active in Latin America and in Africa."

"Now it does not disturb me too much to see their foreign exchange being spent for the basic need of feeding their own people instead of furthering Communist doctrines and penetrations into other countries. If I had to choose a way to absorb their foreign exchange, I'm not sure but that spending it for food for the Chinese people is the best way."

"That isn't the final answer, because it is a complex problem. But Red China has only a limited amount of foreign exchange, and it must be a strain on them to have to spend it to prevent famine in their own country. And that's what they are up against. They are using most of their foreign exchange to provide a minimum diet for their people. That's far better than their spending it for subversion and revolution in other countries."

How Do You Stand, Sir?

By BARRY GOLDWATER

U. S. Senator From Arizona

An apologist for the liberal position who has managed to get his viewpoints published, repeats on several occasions the question: "Wouldn't you rather be a creditor than a debtor?"

This rather peculiar position assumed by this liberal is taken in defense of the national debt. His argument runs that we owe the money to ourselves; therefore, we are creditors and not debtors. Hence, he asks the question repeatedly, almost suggesting that we should be proud of our national debt.

This liberal writer equates the conservative with a pinch — list, who is only concerned with reducing public expenditures and lessening the tax burden.

The notion that the national debt is unimportant, because it constitutes an obligation to ourselves is widely advanced by many Keynesian economists. The truth is that all of us owe the debt, but only a few of us own the debt. The national debt constitutes a liability or a lien against the earnings of every American citizen, and there is no way this can be turned around by semantic juggling into a national asset.

If there should ever be a suggestion of repudiation of the national debt, it would create chaos in our economy. We do not owe the debt to ourselves, because it is not true that each American citizen has invested in bonds or other government obligations.

The disgrace of the national debt lies not in its size, but rather in the failure of government to collect sufficient monies in taxes in this time of high prosperity to eliminate the necessity for deficit financing. If we can't pay our expenses in this period of relatively full employment, how can we ever expect to pay our expenses if the economy suffers some mild recession?

If the government had any resources beyond the taxpayer for collecting the funds to liquidate the national debt, we might regard this as an asset. For example: If the XYZ Building and Loan Co. showed deposits, which are indebtedness, in the amount of $300 billion, we might very well say the people of the United States, because of their thrift and industry, have created $300 billion in assets represented by the deposits in this financial institution. But government debt is not comparable, since the government must lay claim to your earnings in order to meet the interest and ultimately, we hope, liquidate the national debt.

If, for example, this nation had no national debt at all at this moment, we could feel confident that any amount of expenditure necessary to defeat the Russians could be provided without crippling the economy. But with the national debt already nearing $300 billion, it is obvious that the government's capacity to borrow has been seriously impaired, and the national debt is actually a burden which must be carried by every producer in the nation.

I can feel no reason to be proud of the fact that the past administrations have borrowed against the earnings of future generations to the extent of $300 billion. How do you stand, sir?

Tax Collector

Friendly, Informative Fellow Will Be New Image Given Tax Man

(Fifth in a Series)

If Internal Revenue Service Commissioner Caplin can manage it, you'll soon have a new image of the U. S. tax collector. Instead of shrinking from him as a sharp pencil antagonist, you'll welcome him as a friendly, informative fellow concerned only with helping you fill out your income tax return easily and accurately.

"You should live so long as it'll take you to achieve this," I said in my best New York City vernacular when the IRS chief began elaborating on this key objective during our talk last week. His response was quick and earnest.

"Maybe it can't be done but I have ordered a fundamental change in attitude toward taxpayer assistance. The previous administration went overboard on cutting back on services to taxpayers in order to save money. We're reversing this trend, are allocating an increasing percentage of our resources to it. The taxpayer education program isn't a step — child now, it's at the core of our system of voluntary compliance. The taxpayers who'll pay $100 billion to the U. S. government in the 1962 fiscal year are entitled to decent handling and we're going to give it to them."

In view of this pledge, what Caplin is doing and planning to do takes on new significance. To be specific:

(1) A major drive is underway to simplify the income tax forms, make them less formidable, tortured documents. This year's form 1040 already has been streamlined from four to two pages and "we're just starting to grapple with the problem," said Caplin. "We'll eliminate more technical terms, cut out all unnecessary garbage. Of course, what's basically needed is a simplification of our complex tax laws but until we get this, we'll do our utmost on simplification."

(2) The IRS is greatly expanding its public information services to educate taxpayers to their rights as well as obligations under the laws. More money is going into training agents. Materials are being prepared for use in high schools "so youngsters can be taught about our tax system and forms and can help their parents too."

(3) During the approaching filing time, all IRS district offices will be manned with additional agents to assist taxpayers in filling out returns and to answer questions over the phone.

(4) Advance rulings for businessmen are being speeded up so corporations can plan transactions with full knowledge of the tax liabilities involved. "We already issue 30,000 to 40,000 rulings a year," Caplin emphasized, "and ours is the only government in the world which performs this service for taxpayers — tells them what tax angles will be involved before a transaction is completed. I wonder how many American businessmen appreciate how important this service to them is..."

(5) Caplin intends to listen "with sympathy" to any complaints from businessmen about the questions they are asked to answer, the forms they are given to fill out. "We have in the past asked questions we shouldn't have asked. If we don't need the information, we're not going to ask for it," Caplin plans to call on businessmen in advance of a ruling or a law for their reactions and suggestions, hopes that by so doing, he can anticipate trouble spots.

(6) The IRS is holding and intends to continue holding frequent meetings with industry and business groups, leading organizations of lawyers, accountants, etc., to discuss regulations, technical issues and proposed legislation and give and get advice.

"Then, of course, when our new system of automatic data processing gets into full operation and each taxpayer has a permanent number, we'll be able to push the button to identify all errors, omissions and delinquent returns," proudly concluded Caplin. "Any dishonesty by your neighbor will be immediately revealed."

"Yeah," said I, "millions of taxpayers are sure going to be grateful to that friendly little pushbutton! As I remarked at the start, Commissioner, you should live so long."

CHAPTER X

The high priest was vexed. He knew that the people of Judea set great store by the portents of the stars, and he did not want the ridiculous assumptions of the gentiles to become common knowledge. Suppose there was a baby in Bethlehem? If the Magi found him, and adored him, the people would hear of it and this might turn them away from the great temple of Jerusalem.

The high priest waited until the early watch and stood in the tower over the gold grapes on the east wall of the temple, squinting into the night sky. It appeared that there was no star, and the priest felt relieved. He was about to descend when a bright light appeared to hang between the jagged peaks of Moab. He studied it a moment, waited, and then expelled a long sigh. It was a star. An unusually large star.

The high priest reported to the king Herod and relayed of the nation—the high priests and the news. The sovereign was in the scribes—and he demanded sane. He was a dark, bearded man with wild, rolling eyes and do something he had been dying of a wasting about it at once. He assured them disease for a year Herod listened that if, for example, the star was to the news on a couch and or over Bethlehem and some under the high priest to summon known infant was there, the stupid the Magi. He asked their inter- people of the streets would spread pretation of the meaning of the news all over Judea and big star, and they told him that it would desert the temple and should be a joy and comfort to a worst of all, their lawful king in favor of a squalling, whimpering probability, God had sent a sa- infant to take his place.

Herod asked many questions. He appeared to have an academic interest in the new king—if there was a new king—and he hoped that if the Persian philosophers found the baby, they would do him the courtesy of informing him, so that the king could offer his own tribute to the new mag- istry. By the way, he said, the star first appeared when the baby was born should be able to tell the age of the new king by knowing how long the star had been in the sky.

Milchios shook his head. We saw the star recently, he said, but it was possible that it had been in the sky—perhaps on another path—for many months. We would doubt this, but it was possible.

The three wise men exchanged gifts with Herod and left. At once, the mad king called in the council palace of King Herod and relayed of the nation—the high priests and the news. The sovereign was in the scribes—and he demanded sane. He was a dark, bearded man with wild, rolling eyes and do something he had been dying of a wasting about it at once. He assured them disease for a year Herod listened that if, for example, the star was to the news on a couch and or over Bethlehem and some under the high priest to summon known infant was there, the stupid the Magi. ## DEATHS

Chop Infant

OAK GROVE (Special) — Funeral services have been scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday in the Chickasaw Church of Christ for James Dennis Chop, seven-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Chop of Oak Grove. The child died Friday morning after a short illness in Biggs-Golson Clinic.

Officiating will be the Rev. Donald Skipper with interment following in Kilbourne Cemetery under direction of Kidder-Cox Funeral Home of Oak Grove.

Surviving besides the parents are a twin brother, Joseph Lennis Chop; Billie Faye Chop, the paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Chop; and the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Cauthen, all of Oak Grove.

Pallbearers will be Beauford Bell and Jackie King.

The body will lie in state today in the chapel of the funeral home until shortly before time of services.

Olin's Annual Tea Is Held

Olin Mathieson Chemical Corporation gave their annual Christmas tea for salaried employees of Monroe, West Monroe, Shreveport, Winnfield and Huttig, Ark., Sunday afternoon at the Paragon Club.

Christmas colors of red, green, white and silver were used to create festive decorations throughout the club. The ballroom was centered with a wreath banded with green magnolia leaves with white sprayed magnolia leaves entwined to give the effect of white poinsettias.

Now he had to contend with a unknown baby. After thirty-five years of sovereignty, Herod was dying slowly and despectically, and he could not even undergo that with serenity. A baby intruded. Well, he would await the return of the Magi, and he would deal with the baby in a manner Herod considered to be direct.

While the Magi were making their questing journey for their homeland, Joseph, on the eighth day, had taken the infant to the synagogue in Bethlehem for circumcision. Centuries before, God had commanded Abraham, as part of a covenant, to circumcise all male Jews shortly after birth. It pledged all sons of Judea to observance of the Law.

The rabbi asked the name to be given the baby and Joseph said, "Jeshua." "Jeshua" is the Hebrew form for the Greek word "Jesus." It means "God is Saviour" and "God Saves." Christ is not a surname. It is a Greek version of the Hebrew "Mashiach" or "Messiah," the Anointed.

In his public ministry, the year old Dick Flam Star Route, Saviour was properly referred to as "Jesus, the Christ." This was the name given to Mary by the archangel. It was also given to Joseph in a dream.

The ancient prophet Isaiah had predicted that the name of the Son of God would be Emmanuel, which means "God with us." He also said that the messiah would be called the Prince of Peace. John XXIII Friday announced the appointment of Msgr. Leo Jozef Suenens as archbishop of Malines-Come. The only name in which all of these meanings are embraced is Jeshua, or Jesus.

ANARCHY CHARGE

Cade Attorneys Seek Dismissal

Attorneys for Negro Muslim leader Troy Bland Cade will attempt to get a criminal anarchy charge against him dismissed on Jan. 12.

Cade, notified to be in Fourth District court Friday to have a new trial date scheduled on the charge, filed a motion to quash it.

Judge Mack Barham set Jan. 12 as the date for the hearing on this action.

District Attorney Albin P. Laster said that he will argue against any dismissal.

One week ago, Judge Jesse S. Heard threw out Cade's conviction by a 12-man jury, on grounds that a signboard used as evidence during the two day November trial was seized by Monroe police illegally.

Six persons were sentenced to prison, two of them by having their probation revoked in other action. Sentence was suspended for three of the others.

Hearings on charges that they violated their probations resulted in probations being revoked for Wesley Gray Heckford, 222 Smith St., West Monroe, and Connie Dupree, 1513 Joe Bill St., West Monroe.

Each had been sentenced earlier this year on a simple burglary charge — Heckford to five years and Miss Dupree to three years, and placed on probation.

Thomas Ray Broadnax Jr., 17, Negro, 3817 Cooper St., was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary, concurrently, on each of two charges of forgery of $15 checks.

Miss Sheila Green, 41, 315 Hart St., charged with three counts of forgery of checks for $7, $8 and $10, was given a five-year suspended sentence and placed on probation.

A charge of simple burglary resulted in a five-year suspended prison term for Thomas A. Bolton, 23, Negro, 2211 Short Washington St. He was placed on probation and is to make restitution.

Larry Newton Causey, 18, 128 Keller St., West Monroe, charged with theft of a cigarette machine, cigarettes and cash totalling $200 was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary, sentence was suspended and he was placed on probation.

Robert J. Hill, alias Bob Hill, Negro, 1301 Texas Ave., was remanded until December 22 for sentencing on one count of theft by check and three counts of forgery.

Wayland Eugene Taylor, 51, 1516 Joe Bill St., West Monroe, pleaded guilty to a charge of arson with intent to defraud. He was remanded for pre-sentence investigation.

A sanity hearing was scheduled for January 19 for Theodis Brown, Negro, 1414 Louise Anne, charged with aggravated rape.

An attorney was appointed to defend David Wesley Bryant, who lives over the levee off the 2900 block of South Grand Street. He is charged with simple burglary; trial is set for May 21.

George Ray Baldwin, alias James C. Simmons, pleaded innocent to eight charges of forgery. He was returned to Ouachita parish from the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kansas.

Trial is set for next Friday for Victor Kent Thompson, 31, 609 Watkins St., West Monroe, charged with aggravated battery.

SANTA and the FLYING SHOE

by Lucrèce Beale

SYNOPSIS: Santa and King Ferdinand of Polydora are puzzling over the mystery of the monstrous Ipewitch and the haunted palace, when suddenly the lights go out and the King disappears!

CHAPTER TWELVE THE TRAP

SANTA looked about in bewilderment. The King's room appeared perfectly normal but the King was missing. Standing there, Santa heard a strange rattling in the closet on the far side of the bed. He tiptoed to the closet and put his ear against the door. The rattling was subdued but violent as if a cook in a hurry was beating a dozen eggs into an omelet.

Santa took a deep breath and threw open the door. The King's clothes hamper was jumping up and down on the closet floor!

Reaching out gingerly, Santa opened the hamper and stepped quickly back. A pair of legs popped from the tangled clothes and waved frantically in the air. "For goodness sake!" exclaimed Santa. "It's the King!"

And so it was. Santa fished him, sputtering and quivering, out of the clothes hamper and set him on his feet.

"What happened?" The King unwound a purple stocking from his neck. "When the lights went out I felt myself fly through the air and I landed upside down in the dirty clothes. That's all I know."

"We must get to the bottom of this," said Santa suddenly very business like. "Since all of your troubles started with the first visit of the Ipewitch I suggest we find the Ipewitch."

"But — I can't go out of the palace!" protested the King. He told Santa how the people were very angry because he had not stopped the Ipewitch. "If they see me they will tear the crown from my head."

"Poo!" said Santa cheerfully. "We will wear disguises." He opened his bag and pulled out two woodchoppers costumes. "This will suit me better than an old woman's dress anyway," he said, putting on his new disguise.

Delighted, the King drew on the tough leather pants and coarse coat and admired himself in the mirror.

"We'll need rope," said Santa as he bustled around the room. "There's the fire rope," said the King. "It hangs out of the window for escape in case of fire."

They tied one end of the rope to the top of a sycamore and the other end to an oak on the opposite side of the plain. Then they hid themselves in some bushes and waited.

They waited all that day and all that night and by the next morning they were not only frozen they were starved. They were just going to get food when they heard a distant thud.

"It's coming!" cried the King. In a moment there was another thud, still far away but shaking the ground around them. Then another thud, this one so close it upheaved the bushes around the woodcutters and buried them in dirt and shrubbery.

The thuds receded and Santa and the King unbriaried themselves and rushed to the plain. There was the footprint of the Ipewitch and right in front of it stretched the rope just as they had left it.

The Ipewitch had never even touched it. (Tomorrow: The Magicians)

Rusk, Franco To Confer On Pacts Today

MADRID (UPI)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk flies here Saturday for "informal" talks with Generalissimo Francisco Franco during which they may discuss nuclear-era modernization of the Spanish army.

There was a recent flurry of speculation in Madrid that Franco might demand nuclear weapons in return for continuing his military agreements with the United States.

However, most observers said Franco is less interested in heavy nuclear armaments than in acquiring tactical weapons. They said Franco especially fancies ground-to-air and air-to-ground missiles.

Rusk was scheduled to be here only five or six hours, stopping en route home from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) foreign ministers meeting in Paris.

But he was expected to cover a world of subjects with Franco and Foreign Minister Fernando Maria Castella.

Spanish officials said Rusk and Franco undoubtedly will discuss the U.S.-Spanish military pacts which come up for renewal in 1963.

The 10-year agreements provided for U.S. bases in Spain—including a giant naval base at Rota and U.S. Air Force Strategic Air Command bases at Torrejon, Zaragoza and Moron de la Frontera.

U. S. China To Hike Aid In Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) — Communist North Viet Nam and pro-Western South Viet Nam Friday both received pledges of cooperation from their powerful allies, Communist China and the United States.

A high-ranking Chinese military delegation arrived in Hanoi as the South Vietnamese government released a letter from President Kennedy promising stepped-up U.S. aid to fight the Communist guerrilla attacks that are armed and supplied from the north.

In another development, the South Viet Nam press agency reported North Viet Nam has admitted the existence of a serious and widespread anti-government guerrilla campaign among its northern hill tribes. The agency said Communist press reports of the fighting were the first admissions of major resistance since North Viet Nam was established in 1954.

Marshall Yeh Chien-ying, head of the Peiping delegation and a vice-chairman of Communist China's national defense council, said his country and North Viet Nam are "close neighbors, relying on each other like lips and teeth."

The delegation, which included five generals and an admiral, came to Hanoi for celebrations of the 17th anniversary of the Communist Vietnamese army.

Kennedy's message was in response to an urgent plea by South Vietnamese President Ngo Dinh Diem said the Communist terrorism, coupled with recent disastrous floods, confront his nation with "perhaps the gravest crisis in its long history."

"The forces of international communism now arrayed against us are more than we can meet with the resources at hand," Diem said. "We must have further assistance from the United States if we are to win the war being waged against us."

Kennedy's reply said the United States is "deeply disturbed" by the Communist guerrilla attacks, which Diem said took a toll of more than 2,000 casualties in October alone.

"We shall promptly increase our assistance to your defense effort as well as help relieve the destruction of the floods which you describe," Kennedy said. Government sources in Washington said the aid will include increased equipment shipments and U. S. training programs, but not U. S. combat troops.

The guerrilla fighting in North Viet Nam was reported by the official newspaper of the North Vietnamese Communist party, Nhan Dan, according to the South Viet Nam press agency.

It was quoted as saying "local counter-revolutionaries" are waging guerrilla warfare against the Communists in areas of "vital strategic and economic importance" in the northern highlands.

Culpepper Is Named VP In Local Firm

Fred C. Culpepper Jr. was elected vice president in charge of new business of Ford, Bacon & Davis Construction Corporation, engineers-Constructor of Monroe. George O. Phillips, executive vice president, announced Friday.

Culpepper, born in Monroe and long-time a resident here, joined Ford, Bacon & Davis in 1941, shortly after he received his civil engineering degree from Virginia Military Institute. He was project manager for the firm on the first long distance coal slurry pipe line, 110 miles, from Cadiz, Ohio, to Cleveland. He has also been in charge of various major natural gas, oil and petroleum product pipe line projects, as well as chemical plants.

He is a registered professional engineer licensed to practice in 13 states, including Louisiana, and is a member of the National Society of Professional Engineers and the Louisiana Engineering Society.

A member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, he is on the executive committee of the pipe line division, in which he has been active for many years. He is also a member of the American Ordnance Association.

Culpepper is a member and elder of the First Presbyterian Church of Monroe. He has long taken a keen interest and participated in community and civic affairs.

During the war he served from 1942 to 1945 and was decorated many times for his work and heroism with 101st Airborne Division. He designed and tested methods of dropping heavy weapons, ammunition and supplies by parachute. He made numerous combat jumps behind the enemy lines in Normandy and Holland and was on General McAuliffe's staff at Bastogne. He was discharged as a Major.

He lives with his wife, Mary Frances, and four children, Fred III and daughters Carol Elizabeth, Dorothy Katherine, and Patricia at 3506 Loop Road.

U. S. To Stock Shelters With Wheat Wafers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department took action Friday to build a nuclear age stockpile of parched wheat wafers which were known to antiquity. The wafers will serve as the basic food in the nation's fallout shelters.

A conference of cereal manufacturers was called for next Thursday to plan the production of 150 million pounds of the survival biscuits known as bulgur wafers.

The wafers are to be the only food available in shelters, a spokesman said. They are basically about as ancient a food as could have been chosen. The word "bulgur" comes from Turkey and means "parched wheat."

The department said plans are to place the wafers in shelters at a rate of five pounds per person. This would provide a diet of 2,000 calories per day for five days, but officials believe that under emergency conditions the food might be rationed to last two weeks.

Each shelter is to be stocked with three and a half gallons of canned water per person, which is considered a 14-day supply.

FLY WITH $35,000

Guard Is Slain In Bank Robbery

NEW YORK (AP)—A bandit out rising from his chair, team invaded a Brooklyn bank Friday, killed a guard without a word of warning and came within a hair's breath of slaying a policeman in a wild exchange of gunfire. Then the pair fled with an estimated $35,000 in cash.

One unidentified customer of the bank made a successful break for freedom under the bandits' guns. That and the timely arrival of the policeman apparently upset the bandits' timetable. They fled in such haste that they strewn about $10,000 in additional cash loot on the floor behind them.

The whole drama of armed intimidation, gunplay and death in a branch of the Lafayette National Bank lasted only 90 seconds. But to bank manager John Condon "it seemed like an eternity."

Behind them as they fled, the two gunmen, a Negro and a white man, left the bank's walls pockmarked with bullet holes as a memento of their gun spree. Some 20 shots were fired.

The policeman, Patrolman Salvatore Accardi, 30, escaped death by an inch or less. As he traded shots with the bandits, a submachine gun bullet struck the shield he wore over his heart. Accardi was sent reeling through the bank's front door by the impact and did not at first realize that the bullet had not penetrated his body.

"I thought I was going to die," he said later.

The white bandit carried the machine gun. And the first thing he did upon entering the bank was to turn it on guard Henry A. Kraus, 33, who was sitting behind a counter to the right of the bank's main entrance.

Kraus never had a chance to draw his own gun and died with-

Condon, 38, told newsmen afterwards: "There were about a dozen customers in the bank at the time. All were herded against the wall by the man with the machine gun. Then he ordered a number of bank employees against the wall."

"Mr. Kraus, our guard, didn't have a chance. The wild man with the machine gun began throwing lead into him before the guard had a chance to do anything."

At about that point, the intrepid, unidentified customer made his break for freedom.

"Hey you, come back here," yelled the machine gun bandit. But the customer kept right on going out the front door. He is believed to be the man who alerted Patrolman Accardi outside.

"Don't anyone move," the man, A. Hayden, Tyler.

Neville, Calhoun Meet In Championship Tilt

WM Gym Is Scene For Tonight's Play

By KEITH PRINCE
World Sports Writer

The curtain comes down tonight at 8:30 o'clock on the first annual News-Star World Invitational Basketball tournament with the lone undefeated survivors, Neville of Monroe and Calhoun, meeting in the championship game.

The admission price for tonight's final round, which is to be played at the West Monroe gymnasium, will be 75 cents for adults and 40 cents for students.

Immediately following the championship game, trophies will be awarded by the News-Star World, and announcement of the seven-man all-tournament team, selected by the sports writers of News-Star World, will be made.

The third place game matches LaSalle of Olla and West Monroe at 7:15 o'clock.

St. Matthews of Monroe and Forest square off in the consolation tilt starting at 6:00 o'clock.

Ouachita of Monroe and Quitman were both ousted last night with second round losses.

Ouachita lost a heartbreaker to St. Matthews 61-56, and Quitman lost by four, 50-46, to Forest.

Coach George Davis' Tigers earned the right to contend for the championship by defeating West Monroe 56-51 in the first game of yesterday's action. Thursday, Neville stopped Forest 72-43.

The Calhoun Chieftans, of Coach Jerry Lovett, fought their way into the finals by downing LaSalle, 47-43, after they had defeated St. Matthews on 47-41 on Thursday.

West Monroe wound up in the second place contest after winning its opening game and then dropping the close one to Neville. Coach L. V. Norris' Rebels raced by Quitman 53-39 before losing by five to the Tigers.

The Rebels' opponent, LaSalle, coached by Hal Bronson, completely ran Ouachita out of the gym Thursday with an easy 68-44 victory, but lost to Calhoun by four points yesterday.

St. Matthews and Forest both dropped openers but came back strong yesterday to advance to the consolation finals.

Coach Bennie Hollis' eagles won a thriller from Ouachita 61-56, and Forest, under the direction of Coach John Mercer, advanced by topping Quitman, 50-46.

NEVILLE JUMPS
Neville jumped off to a 10-6 lead against West Monroe in the first quarter and led comfortably most of the remaining three quarters.

Coach Davis' crew used a steady bombardment from their sharp shooting ace Butch Cerniglia, who popped in 22 points, to give the Rebels their first defeat in the tourney.

Columbia, 67-30
COLUMBIA (Special)—Columbia downed Wisner 67-30 in a boys basketball game here last night. James McLemore hit 14 points for the winners and M. Ensminger 11 for Wisner.

Columbia also downed Wisner's girls 29-24 with Maurine Thompson collecting 11 for the winners and Sue McMahn 13 for Wisner.

in the third quarter to get its win.

After leading 13-12 starting the second quarter, Forest lost its lead and trailed 23-20 at half-time.

By the end of the third quarter Forest had gained the lead back at 33-31 and remained in front the rest of the way.

WILD AFFAIR
Closing out the second day of action, St. Matthews and Ouachita fought it out in a wild affair and the Irish ended up five points on top.

The game, which was in doubt until the final whistle, was one of the most exciting of the tournament so far.

After trailing in the first half, the Irish fought back with two big quarters in the final half, scoring 19 in the third and 17 in the fourth, to rack up the win which puts them in the consolation match.

In the last period, Ouachita could only get eight points while St. Matthews was on its big scoring spree.

Norman Many and Richard Fontana combined to lead the winners. Many tossed in 19 points and Fontana followed closely with 18. Zeke Zarro added 12.

Garland Shipp again provided the fireworks for the Lions as he bombed in 25 points from all angles of the court. Denny Crumley came up with 14, and James Edgar had 10 to round out the top scorers for Ouachita.

Shipp hit on eight fielders and nine foul shots to account for his 25.

David Graves took command of the backboards early in the game and gave Calhoun a definite edge in that department.

In the second half when LaSalle went cold, they could manage only one attempt most of the time they had the ball because of the fine rebounding efforts of Calhoun.

In contrast, the Chieftans were getting as many as three and four shots many times before relinquishing the ball.

FREE THROWS WIN IT
In the first game of the night session last night, Forest, although scoring 12 less points than Quitman on field goals, recorded its 50-46 victory thanks to 20 points made at the free throw line.

Quitman racked up 21 field goals to Forest's 15, but they also committed six more fouls than the winners. While Forest was making good on 20 gratis tosses, Quitman could find the range on only four.

START (Special)—Start defeated Mer Rouge, 53-40, in a District 7-C basketball game here last night.

Tommy Parker stuffed in 20 points and grabbed 16 rebounds to lead the Start quintet to victory. Teammate Sidney Eppinette was second in individual scoring with 17.

Walter Faulkenbury was high for Mer Rouge with 22. Steve's Ginger Eppinette poured in 27 points to lead the girls in scoring. Pam Parker paced the winners with 17.

Caster, 81-76
EPPS (Special)—Caster's boys topped Epps 81-76 and Epps downed the Caster girls 44-34 here last night.

Caster's boys play Lake Providence at 7 p.m. tonight and Epps boys take on Weston at 8:15.

Ten boys hit double figures with Jeff Davidson the high man on 29 for Caster's boys. Louie Cleveland scored 31 for Epps.

Epps' Francine Corley ripped the nets for 23 points and Linda Beth Hamm sank 32 for Caster in the girls game.

Carroll Defeats Webster For AAA State Crown

The Carroll high school Bulldogs defeated Webster high school of Minden here last night to take the State AAA Negro high school football championship for 1961.

This is the first time in the history of the school, which was established in 1953, that Coach James Thomas' gridgers have won the State championship.

Halfback Minister Williams got the Bulldogs out in front by a 6-0 count early in the game on a 17-yard scamper.

In the third period quarterback Walter Thompson scored the Bulldogs' second TD of the night and Williams ran the extra point to give Carroll a 13-0 advantage.

Halfback Minister Williams picked off two Webster passes in the fourth stanza and the vicious Bulldogs turned both breaks into touchdowns to run the final score to 25-0.

Following Simms' first interception, Thompson hit end Julian Gray with a 25-yard scoring aerial.

Fullback Henry Brown scored on a two-yard plunge after Simms' second tally.

Carroll got its first break early in the game with its recovery of a Webster fumble on its own 45 yard marker.

A few plays later Thompson pitched back to Williams and then led interference as Williams carried the ball to pay-dirt.

The attempt for extra point failed, leaving the score 6-0.

Both teams threw up a stubborn defense in the second period and neither offense put together a serious threat.

The Bulldogs came back into the third quarter more fired up and swiftly marched 70 yards for another tally.

Thompson did the honors himself by rolling around left end and sprinting 25 yards for six more points.

Williams ran the point after to make the score 13-0 going into the final quarter.

Simms moved in and picked off a Webster aerial near mid-field and returned it to the Webster 45.

Williams bulled his way for 20 yards on the first play of the series, then Williams dropped back and tossed to end Julian Gray who completed the 25-yard scoring play.

A few minutes after the kickoff following the third Carroll score, Simms intercepted his second pass of the night—one at the Bulldog 45—and returned it to Webster's 30.

After a short gain by Williams, Thompson handed off to Brown who twisted and turned his way to the two yard line before being stopped. On the next play Brown powered his way into the end zone for Carroll's final score.

Some of the defensive standouts who were praised for their fine work by Coach Thomas were: center Levi Powell, tackles James White, Oscar Jones and John Bowman, guards Vernon Randolph, David Smith, Robert Coulter and Willie Wade, ends Thomas Harvey and Gray, and backs Joe Everett and Simms.

LOSS NO. 3

Savages Trounce La. Tech, 74-65

RUSTON (Special)—Louisiana blew a 12-point halftime lead here last night and went down to its third straight defeat, losing to

Savages Trounce La. Tech, 74-65

The Bulldogs who led 46-34 at intermission scored only four field goals in 28 attempts during the second half. The Savages took advantage of the cold shooting Technique to take the lead 50-49 with 13:30 left in the game.

After losing the lead Tech tied it at 53-53 before the Oklahoman's pulled away, holding their widest margin at 68-59 with 4:30 remaining.

The touring Savages who have now won eight of ten, played much of the second half with four regulars on the bench in the foul-murder contest.

A total of 61 fouls was called, 31 of them on Tech.

Richard Muldrew paced the Oklahoman's with 22 points, while Harold McDaniel got 13 and Connie McGuire got 11.

Jackie Fair, with 23 points, and Ron McNabb, with 19, were the only Tech players in double figures.

Tech hit 29 of 36 free throws while the Savages converted 30 of 44.

Pardue, a 6-foot-6 sophomore, kept Virginia Tech in the game against Alabama in the first 15 minutes.

Then Tech poured on the heat, out-scoring Alabama 10-5 in the last six minutes for a 44-29 halftime lead. The big gun in the scoring surge was Bucky Keller with 12 points.

Joe Adeock was high for Alabama with 23 points.

Auburn was ahead all the way but it wasn't until the closing minutes that the game was wrapped up. LSU, led by Maury Drummond, who was top scorer with 20 points, trimmed a 10-point Auburn lead to five points midway through the second half but could get no closer.

From there, Auburn steadily increased its lead, mostly on free throws.

Monterey's girls bested Vidalia 52-23. Diane Crouch sank 17 for Monterey and Joe Engrth got 22 for Vidalia.

In the boys B game Linwood Wiley led the way with 14 points as Monterey won 44-19. Mike Greer scored nine for the losers.

Oberlin Beats Clinton, Cops Class B Title

CLINTON, La. (AP)—Quarterback George Richard scored three touchdowns to lead Oberlin to the Louisiana Class B title Friday night with a 34-13 victory over Clinton.

Richard scored on runs of 5, 28 and 12 yards. Kenneth Macit and Hoyle Granger scored Oberlin's other touchdowns. Granger also ran four conversions.

After Granger scored Oberlin's first touchdown on a 7-yard run, fullback George Haynes scored for Clinton on a 57-yard run.

Richard then scored his first touchdown, a 28-yard jaunt to climax a drive which began from Oberlin's 34.

With 30 seconds left in the first half, Granger passed to Macit from 14 yards out on a fourth and eight situation.

In the third period, Clinton penetrated to the Oberlin 25 but Richard ended the threat by intercepting a pass on his own 16.

In the fourth period, Richard went off tackle 12 yards for his third touchdown.

The final Oberlin score was set up when Richard intercepted a pass on the Clinton 30. Granger wound up the drive by going up the middle 7 yards for the score.

With 43 seconds left, Haynes scored from the one for Clinton's second touchdown and then ran the extra point. Stewart Chaney's 32-yard run to the one set up the touchdown.

49ers Battle Colts For Scnd Place

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer
The San Francisco 49ers, victors in three of their last four games, battle the disappointing Baltimore Colts in San Francisco Saturday in the beginning of the end of the National Football League's regular season.

The 49ers could salvage a share of second place in the Western Conference by beating the Colts provided the Detroit Lions bow to the Philadelphia Eagles in Detroit Sunday.

A San Francisco victory and a Detroit defeat would put the 49ers in the Runner-Up Bowl at Miami Jan. 8 even though the 49ers and the Lions would wind up with identical 8-5-1 records. The 49ers would get to play the Eastern Conference runnerup in the Orange Bowl on the basis of their earlier triumph and tie with the Lions.

Despite the importance of the game in the race for the Runner-Up Bowl representation, the week-end No. 1 attraction comes off Sunday in New York's Yankee Stadium where the Giants can win the Eastern Conference championship by whipping or tying the Cleveland Browns.

The Colts-49ers clash will be televised nationally (CBS, 4:30 p.m. EST).

San Francisco was beaten 20-17 by the Colts two weeks ago, losing when Jimmy Orr made a diving catch in the end zone of a 41-yard pass from Johnny Unitas with little more than a minute left. Kezar Stadium, where the teams clash Saturday, isn't one of Baltimore's favorite game sites. The Colts have managed to beat the 49ers only once in nine tests there.

All other clubs end their regular seasons Sunday. In addition to the Giants-Browns and Lions-Eagles tilts, Green Bay (10-3), the Western champion, invades Los Angeles (4-9). Minnesota (3-10) is at Chicago (7-6). Pittsburgh (4-7) visits St. Louis (6-7) and Dallas (4-8). Lousie to extend the Redskins' two-year winless string to 21 games at Washington (0-12-1).

The New York-Cleveland headliner will find the Giants poised, cocky and confident and the Browns rather unpredictable despite their abundance of leaders in the NFL's individual statistical categories.

The Giants would like to duplicate their 37-21 victory of Nov. 26 over the Browns, who still have a chance to represent the East in the Runner-Up Bowl. Even if the Giants lose, they could still win the title if the Lions turn back Philadelphia's Eagles, who should New York by a game. Should the Giants lose and the Eagles win, the two clubs would meet in New York Dec. 24 in a playoff for the Eastern championship and the right to play Green Bay for the league crown Dec. 31 in Green Bay.

Cleveland, literally speaking, will throw the book at the Giants. The Browns' Milt Plum leads the NFL in passing and has a fancy 61.4 per cent completion record. Only nine of Plum's 277 pitches have fallen into enemy hands.

Cleveland's Jimmy Brown, king of the rushers the last four years, tops the ground gainers with 1,306 yards and a 4.7-yard average. And there's Bobby Mitchell, the great breakaway runner, who plays halfback for the Browns on Sunday, and as a private drills for the Army the rest of the time.

The Giants hope to offset the Browns' dazzling aerial and ground power with the running of Alex Webster, third in rushing, and Bobby Gayers and the passing of either Y. A. Tittle or Charlie Conerly or both to the likes of Del Shuler, Kyle Rote and Joe Walton.

If the game should focus on placekickers, consider this:

The Browns have Lou Groza, the circuit's all-time scoring champ. This season he's scored 84 points, including 36 of 37 tries for extra point and 16 of 21 field goals.

Area Grid Stars Ink Scholarships To Attend USL

Lawrence Nugent, out-landing prep grid star from Bastrop, signed an athletic scholarship to the University of Southwestern Louisiana yesterday.

Earlier in the week, Mike Tinnerello, from Winnfield, also signed an athletic scholarship to USL. Nugent, 6-0, 195 pounder, played guard for the Bastrop Rams.

Tinnerello, 5-11, 165 pounds played his high school football at the quarterback slot.

Both boys were signed by as sistant coach Joe May.

When to Fish or Hunt SOLUNAR TABLES

The schedule or Solunar Periodic, printed below, has been taken from John Alden Knight's Solunar Tables. Plan your days so that you will be fishing in good territory or hunting in good cover during these times if you wish to find the best sport that each day has to offer.

Begin these times as shown and last for an hour and a half or two hours thereafter. The minor periods first listed for morning and afternoon, are of somewhat shorter duration.

A HOBBYIST in taxidermy was trusted with the preservation of this fine trophy and did a commendable job for Raymond Cowan, Excelsior community near Vidalia, pictured with the 28-point rack taken in Concordia parish. Dan Chase, Vidalia High School football coach who saw his Vikings through an undefeated regular season and the district 3-B championship, did the taxidermy job for Cowan who says this is only his second largest kill. He claims a 38-pointer taken last season. The antlers of the pictured buck (some of the points are not visible) measure 10 inches in circumference and have a 25 1/2-inch spread.

Louisiana Lists Co-Chairman For Wildlife Week

NEW ORLEANS (Special) — New Harmon of Baton Rouge, executive director of the education and public city division of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, was selected as co-chairman for Wildlife Week, March 18-24.

The announcement was made jointly by Thomas L. Kimball, executive director of the National Wildlife Federation, Washington, D. C., and Bill Knippers, president of the Louisiana Wildlife Federation.

Sponsored annually since 1938, National Wildlife Week was first proclaimed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Working through more than 2,000 individuals, the National Wildlife Federation and its state affiliates will concentrate on the theme "Waterfowl for the Future by Conservation of Wetlands which Benefit Man and Wildlife."

"Louisiana can truly count on its blessings when it comes to wildlife resources and state sportsmen never had it so good as far as fishing and hunting opportunities are concerned," Harmon added. "With our productive 400-mile coastline that offers some of the finest inside and outside water fishing including the big bill fishes, with our many bays, lakes, rivers and streams scattered throughout the state, containing both salt and freshwater species, and our abundance of deer, rabbits, squirrels, quail and other game animals and birds, Louisiana is appropriately named, the 'Sportsman's Paradise.'"

Harmon said that prior to and during "Wildlife Week" the state's outdoor writers would make use of every communication media to focus attention on Louisiana's fabulous wildlife story. He called on organized groups throughout the state to make a place for a speaker to explain why it is important that we have fish and game laws and why we must leave some of all species for tomorrow and the coming generations.

TONIGHT IN JONESBORO

Northeast Plays Arkansas State

Still shaky after their last-minute, 70-69 victory over Lamar Tech Thursday, Northeast State's Indian basketballers meet Arkansas State in Jonesboro, Ark., tonight in their final pre-Christmas contest.

After the Arkansas State clash, the Indians will be idle until Dec. 29 when play opens in the annual Northeast Christmas Tournament in Monroe.

Northeast edged Lamar on Dec. 28 with the tipin 30 seconds.

Bulldogs Extend Home Winning Streak To 24

LAFAYETTE (Special) — Coach Beryl Shipley's USL Bulldogs ran their home court win streak to 24 games with their thrilling 70-67 victory over the Lamar Tech Cardinals Wednesday night.

Three wins at home plus one on the road give the Bulldog carers a record of four wins and two losses. The USL team lost road games to Babe MacCarthy's SEC power Mississippi State, 88-61, and Joel Eave's Auburn Tigers 62-46.

Senior Larry Simon, who scored 16 points against Lamar Tech, leads his team in scoring with 57 points for a 16.1 per game average. Simon, 6-3 from Lafayette, has hit 32 of 61 attempts from the floor for 52.5 per cent. He places the squad in rebounds with 31.

Jinks Welch, highly regarded freshman forward from Lake Charles, is the no. 2 scorer with 74 points and an average of 12.3 points per game. In 6 games the 6-3 Welch has grabbed 28 rebounds.

Sophomore Dean Church, from Ashland, Ky., has the squad's best shooting percentage, having hit 18 of 31 attempts for 58.1 per cent. Church has a total of 57 points. A tough competition the backboards, Dean has 29 rebounds.

Junior College All-American Andy Russo from New Orleans is the third member of the squad to score in double figures for the Bulldogs. The 6-4 junior has 61 points for a 10.1 average, and 21 rebounds.

The squad has 151 of 342 field goals for a percentage of 44.1. The USL team has fired in 98 of 147 free throws for a team percentage of 66.7. In 6 games the Bulldog cagers have scored 400 points while their opponents have scored 415 points. Southwestern has a game average of 66.6 against their opponents 69.1 average.

Southwestern will play two more games, both at home, before breaking for the Christmas Holidays. Tuesday, Dec. 19, USL will host Eastern New Mexico and will play Culver-Stockton of Missouri the following night in Blackham Coliseum.

The Hawks never let off, grabbing an early lead as Clyde Lovellette jammed in the first five points for St. Louis.

The Hawks, led by some spectacular shooting by Cliff Hagan and Bob Pettit, rushed to a 37-22 first quarter lead.

The Hawks held off some New York threats, keyed by Al Butler and Willie Naulls, to take a 65-55 halftime advantage.

New York was down 15 points midway through the third period before a surge carried the Knicks within one point—84-83—with 24 seconds left in the quarter. However, a three-point play by Pettit and a basket by Vern Hatten gave St. Louis an 89-83 lead.

For finishing on top in the AP poll, Maris will receive the Presidential Order of the Eagles—Frederick C. Miller Trophy at a dinner in Milwaukee Jan. 4. He is the first Milwaukee player to win the trophy since Ted Williams in 1957. It was won last year by Rafter Johnson, the Olympic decathlon champion and world record holder.

Horning led Green Bay to its second consecutive Western Conference title in the NFL. He is a cinch to win his third straight scoring championship. With one game remaining, Horning has 146 points, 50 more than the runnerup, teammate Jim Taylor.

Saphin paced the National League in earned run average with 3.09 and complete games, 21. He won 21 games, including the only no-hitter of the major league season, while lifting his lifetime victory total to 309.

Y. A. Tittle, veteran quarterback of the New York Giants, was sixth in the voting with 60 points. Then came Whitey Ford, 25-game winning pitcher for the Yankees, 56 points; Ralph Boston, the record-holding broad jumper, 48. Valery Brumel of Russia, the world's top high jumper, 47. South African's Gary Player, winner of the Masters Golf Tournament, 43. Next in coaching at Notre Dame, and professional basketball star Army, Pitt, Maryland, Holy Cross, Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia, and his alma mater, Columbia.

Ernie Davis, Jim Brown Big Buddies

By STEVE SNIDER
NEW YORK (UPI) — Sports of all sorts:

All-America halfback Ernie Davis of Syracuse, who figured right along the Cleveland Browns would obtain the right to draft him, has a tremendous admiration for halfback Jimmy Brown, former Syracuse ace now a star with Cleveland ... Ernie broke several of Jimmy's Syracuse offensive records but:

"You know, I might be scared to play in the same backfield with a great star like Jimmy Brown," said Ernie. "Maybe I wouldn't look so good. Not at first, anyway."

Davis was drafted by Buffalo in the American League and by Washington in the National ... The Browns picked up Washington's draft rights in a trade, sending rookie Larry Jackson and a player to be named later (Bob Mitchell) to the Redskins ...

Browns hope to sign him after Ernie winds up his Syracuse chores in Saturday's Liberty Bowl game against Miami at Philadelphia.

Televised football fare Saturday: Syracuse vs. Miami (NBC), Kansas vs. Rice in Bluebonnet Bowl (CBS), Baltimore Colts at San Francisco (CBS) ... Have fun.

Boxing is a flop in the big town but the razzlers just concluded one of their greatest Madison Square Garden sessions ... Grunt and groaners drew 200,000 total attendance and $800,000 at the box-office in 12 shows ... For "exhibitions," yet.

General manager George Weiss of the New York Mets believes there are plenty of weekday baseball fans in New York so, of 13 doubleheaders for his new National League club next year, George is putting off five of 'em on Sundays ... In addition to Memorial Day, Mets scheduled twin-bills on three Wednesdays, four Saturdays.

A U.S. girls' field hockey team, scheduled for a tour of England next March, may be in for a bit of stage fright ... One match already is a guaranteed sellout of 80,000 ... Over here, the gala play before friends and relatives only.

Jackie Robinson, first Negro to play major league baseball, has been named to the board of directors of a restaurant chain and coffee distributor ... Jack has been with the outfit five years, also is a personnel vice prez.

Four-man U.S. track team is heading for New Zealand for a series of meets in January ... Picked to go under Kansas State coach Ward Haylett are Jim Dupree 440 and 880 yard runner from Southern Illinois U.; Peter Close, miler formerly at St. John's; decathlon star Dave Edstrom of Oregon; and another to be named later.

Kansas, without a victory in its first three games, swept six of its last seven games for a 6-3-1 record.

OPEN NIGHTS TILL 8 P.M.

Will Play Today Hadl Denies He Signed Contract

HOUSTON (AP) — Kansas Coach Jack Mitchell, armed with a signed statement that his star quarterback John Hadl has not signed a pro contract, said Friday his Jayhawks are ready for Saturday's Bluebonnet Bowl game with Rice University.

"Hadl signed a statement, and I'm convinced he has not signed with San Diego," Mitchell said. "He'll play tomorrow."

The American Football League San Diego club earlier had denied a charge by the Detroit Lions that Hadl had accepted a $17,500 contract with the Chargers.

Mitchell met Hadl at the Houston International Airport.

Rice was a three to four point favorite for the nationally televised game (CBS, 1:45 p.m., EST) before the National League Detroit club made its charge. Odds-makers promptly took the game off the board and refused to accept bets.

A near capacity crowd is expected at the 70,000-seat Rice Stadium. Friday's weather included a very light rain and temperatures in the low 50s. More of the same is expected Saturday.

The Detroit charge against Hadl gave the bowl game season its second such incident. Clyde Brock, Utah State tackle, was held out of last Saturday's Gotham Bowl game with Baylor after AFL officials charged he had signed a contract with the National League Chicago Bears.

Hadl, an all-around back who specializes in the option play, was the No. 1 draft choice of the Detroit Lions and the No. 3 selection of the San Diego club. In addition to being the regular punter for Kansas, Hadl leads the team in total offense, passing, kickoff returns and punt returns.

Mitchell described Hadl Thursday as the most versatile back he has ever coached.

Hadl's understudies at quarterback for the Mitchell version of the sliding slot T formation are Roger McFarland, the starting halfback, and Con Keating, a junior who has thrown only three passes all season.

Both Kansas and Rice were among the pre-season favorites in the Big Eight and Southwest Conferences but had to make strong comebacks before receiving invitations to the third annual Bluebonnet classic.

Kansas, without a victory in its first three games, swept six of its last seven games for a 6-3-1 record.

Miss Johnson Honored At Series Of Prenuptial Courtesies Prior To Vows

A series of prenuptial courtesies was recently extended to Miss Ashley Johnson, bride-elect of Carson Pridden. A bridal tea was given in the home of Mrs. E. P. Akin, with Mrs. Pauline Thornhill, Mrs. Marie Whitman, and Mrs. Akin as hostesses.

Christmas in pink was the theme of the evening. The tea table was covered in pink and overlaid in lace. Centering the table was an arrangement of pink poinsettias and spikes of glittering beads. The transition from the poinsettias to the rosette container was made with clusters of graduated pink mirror balls and silver leaves which curved over the rim of the container to the table. Flanking the arrangement were tall pink tapers in silver holders.

For the occasion the honoree chose a black sheath with matching accessories.

Corsages of pink mirror balls and silver leaves tied in corresponding ribbon were presented to the bride-elect and to her mother.

Guests were registered in the bridal book by Mrs. Marian Willett.

Those presenting gifts to the bride elect at this event were: Mesdames Almada Brown, Eunice Henderson, Barbara Boyles, Fannie Brown, Dewell Smith, Jr., George Robertson, Maudie Goldens, Harold Crawley, Carol Hoskins, Marian Willett, Irene Delay, W. E. Lanier, and Misses Madge Kelly, Sue Crawley, and Sharon Boyles, who will serve as flower girl in the wedding; also the Rev. and Mrs. E. P. Akin, and the Rev. and Mrs. E. A. Johnson and Noel Keith, parents and brother of the bride-elect, and the hostesses.

RICE BAGS
A small group met at the home of Mrs. R. L. Willett to tie individual rice bags to be presented to the reception guests following the wedding of Miss Johnson to Mr. Pridden.

The honoree, whose wedding will be an event of December 29, was presented with a corsage of white lilies of the valley nestled in green lace ribbon which was complimented by the silver-beige tulle model chosen by her for this event.

The color theme of the wedding, green, silver, and white, was used throughout the evening. Pale green candles cast a glow over the work table in the living room where the miniature white net bags were tied in green ribbon.

White tapers in silver holders were placed on the serving table which was overlaid in green. A flat centerpiece of lilies of the valley graced the table. As each guest was served in silver and white, she was presented with a sprig of lily of the valley tied in green lace as a memento of the evening.

Those assisting Miss Johnson were Mrs. Shelby Joyner Willett, Mrs. Barbara Thornhill Boyles, Mrs. Sharon Mann Smith, her mother, Mrs. Beverly Millis Johnson and the hostess.

SHOWER
Miss Ashley Johnson was also complimented at a miscellaneous shower given in the bayou home of Mrs. J. E. Petty on the Old Sterling Road. Co - hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Rolie Allen, Jr., Mrs. Neva Kelly, and Miss Madge Kelly.

Miss Johnson wore a tulle model of peacock blue with pearl collar. Her hostesses presented her with a unique corsage of small yellow mums and miniature furniture.

Guests at the occasion were Mrs. Marian Willett, Mrs. John Zuffall, Mrs. Mary Joyner, Mrs. Lea Johnson, Mrs. William Perry, Mrs. David Johnson, Mrs. Juanita Walker, Mrs. Elsie Johnson, Mrs. Lillian Strough, Mrs. Del Price, Mrs. Betty Crews, Mrs. Juanita Minor, Mrs. Blanche Crews, Mrs. Eunice Henderson, Miss Priscilla Walker, Miss Ann Walker, Miss Sally Price, Mrs. Shelby Willett, the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Everette A. Johnson, and the hostesses.

BRIDAL SHOWER
Mrs. Ray Davis of Bossier City entertained recently with a bridal shower in her home complimenting Miss Johnson. Co - hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Earl Cartwright and Mrs. W. F. Thorn.

For the occasion, the honoree chose a red sheath with black accessories.

Appropriate games were played prior to the presentation of gifts to the prospective bride.

Centering the lace - covered tea table was an unique colonial arrangement of dahlias and roses.

Sharing the occasion with her and her hostesses were her mother, Mrs. Everette A. Johnson, and Mesdames Florence Jennings, W. D. Festervand, H. E. Darnell, Jr., John Hawkins, I. B. Payne, Joe Chandler, John Lee, J. R. Millis, Jettie Vines, Nolan Smith, and the Misses Patty Oats, Nancy Helen, Janis, and Johnette Hawkins.

Christmas lights in the trees overlooking the bayou gave a festive air to the evening party, and a traditional tree in the family room carried out the holiday theme.

Those attending the dinner party were Mr. and Mrs. Marcus

Mapp, Dr. and Mrs. Henry Guerrero, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Farr, Rev. and Mrs. A. Donald Davies, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse McDonald, Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Davis, Rev. and Mrs. Wayne Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Carl F. Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred D. Ware, Mr. and

One of the new fabrics is made of woven sheer nylon monofilament. Another uses synthetic leather strips to produce a realistic hand-woven appearance. The third fabric is made of saw-type yarn.

Ferriday Choir Holds Party, Yule Song Fest

The Ferriday Little Boys Baseball Choir, under the direction of Rev. James Ferguson, met in the home of Mrs. R. R. Miller on Mimosa Park Road, for their Christmas party and song fest.

Games and a wiener roast were part of the entertainment for George Perry, Francis Goynes, Ricky Kennedy, Keith Dunlap, Gary Wike, Gary and Randy Miller, Bobby and Johnny Johnson, Gary, Jerry, and Mike Glass, Robert Ferguson, Joe and Mike Roato, and Fred Bamberg.

The next meeting will be Thursday night, December 21, at 7:00 p.m. when the choir will sing carols for the Ferriday Kiwanis Club Christmas party at the Ferriday High School Auditorium.

RECEIVING GUESTS at the afternoon party given on Wednesday of this week are Mrs. Jack Files, one of the hostesses, her mother, Mrs. Forrest O. Koonts, of Oil City, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Ralph Wicker, a hostess.

Mrs. Wicker, Mrs. Files Trim, Maintain Host Gay Afternoon Party Christmas Tree The Safe Way

Miniature Christmas trees decorated with candy canes provided a welcoming festive note to guests as they arrived for the party given on Wednesday afternoon by Mrs. Jack Files and Mrs. Ralph Wicker, in the Files home on Sherwood.

Above the front door hung a swag of greenery tied with a red bow and with red balls entwined. Guests were greeted by the hostesses in the entrance hall of the home, and ushered into the living room, where an arrangement of pine and green and gold Christmas balls, flanked by hurricane lamps holding gold candles, was the focal point on the serving table.

In the den holly surrounded a traditional Christmas candle on a second serving table. At one end of the table was a silver service. Presiding at the tables and as Don't set trees close to stairways where they could block escape from upstairs in case of fire. Select a tree that is freshly-cut by feeling the needles to see that they are attached firmly. Keep the tree outdoors until just before Christmas, and in a pail of water so it remains fresh. Set up the tree in the coolest part of the room, as far as possible from radiators, heaters and fireplace, to prevent over-drying. Fill the water container daily in the tree stand. Use only glass, metal or fire-resistant tree trimmings. Keep electric tins away from the tree. A spark could ignite dry pine needles. Check lights before putting on the tree, and discard any with frayed wires. When you open presents, get rid of wrappings immediately. Turn off tree lights when leaving the house. When the tree begins shedding needles discard it outdoors. Even if tree is still fresh, plan to dismantle the day after New Year's. Be sure decorative lighting does not overload electrical circuits.

WHITE CHRISTMAS
You can give your family a white Christmas despite the temperamental weather by manufacturing your own snow supply — the non-melting kind. Mix a liberal amount of soap or detergent with about two tablespoons of water and beat with a rotary beater or electric mixer. Keep adding soap as needed until the mixture stands in meringue-like peaks. Use a big spoon or spatula to drift the snowsuds on your Yule wreaths, evergreen boughs, and the tree in your living room.

Tete à Tete

MRS. TRAVIS MARKS will have as her guests this coming week relatives, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Spotten, of Lufkin, Texas. Mrs. Spotten is the former Miss Lelia Marks.

ARRIVING TODAY to spend the Christmas holidays in Monroe are Mrs. D. W. McMoy and daughter, Patti, of St. Paul, Minnesota. While here they will be guests of Mrs. McMoy's daughters and families, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Hinckley and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pettit III, as well as visit with other relatives.

A PORT ARTHUR, TEXAS visitor arriving Wednesday is Mrs. Carl Corbett, who will be a guest of her mother, Mrs. Edith Swayze. Mr. Corbett will join them for Christmas.

DR. AND MRS. L. T. MURPHY, 600 Erin, will have as their house guests for a two week Christmas vacation Mrs. Murphy's mother, Mrs. Roy Stanley and her sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Embree and sons, James and Stephen, of Marquette, Michigan. The visitors will arrive in Monroe Monday.

OPEN HOUSE for Lotus Club members is slated for Sunday, December 17, between the hours of 5:00 and 8:00 p.m.

NEW ORLEANSIANS in Monroe for the week-end include Mr. and Mrs. Ken Abington, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Louie Harris. The Abingtons are guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kennedy Abington in their home on Valencia, and the Harris' are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Haydn Cutler.

Hostess Check List For Yule Provisions

By ALFRED DeCICCO
Choral singers are getting louder, the tree has been ordered and suddenly the most exciting time of the year is upon us.

Surely every homemaker in the world is asking herself: What have I forgotten? Presents for the kids are stuffed away in every nook and cranny, and the larder seems bulging with goodies in reserve for dropper-inners. But still, it's a good idea to double check the list of vital necessities for the hospitable holidays.

The best place to start checking is the pantry. Be sure to have after-dinner mints, and dried fruits and nuts for bounteous little bowls around the house. Christmas cookies for tea times, and plenty of candy canes for the kiddies.

Also wise to have on hand are a few extra stocking stuffers, little gifts to delight unexpected guests. Extra gift wraps come in handy at the last minute, too. So do plenty of candles to add to the general household glow.

Now you should be ready for a luncheon, tea-party, or midnight visit at the drop of a hat.

HAIR GLAMOUR

Add a little glitter for glamor in your holiday hairdo. Tuck in a tiny tree ornament, a spray of holly, a cluster of shiny bells or a sprig of bright velvet bow.

Your Baby And Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

The following is a letter from a very young reader. She is concerned about her inability to stay dry at night. Within recent years there has been considerable research with others who suffer as she does, and some helpful observations have been made on how to control it.

She writes: "I have a problem that not many girls my age have. I am 19 and still wet the bed. I go to the bathroom just before I go to bed, but the next morning I'm soaked. Other times I can get up in the middle of the night, have something to drink and still be dry the next morning. It seems to go by spells. Just when I think I have stopped, it happens again. "I do it a lot when I am away from home which is embarrassing. Please help me. My mother is fed up and so am I."

or emotionally upset when you have these spells. This can cause you to have less control than when you are rested and happy content. When you are away from home, it is understandable that you might be nervous for fear of wetting the bed with its consequent embarrassment.

However, at your age it is probably as much physical as emotional, and you may have an infantile or small bladder. The suggested way to enlarge it is to drink copiously of fluids during the day and then make a physical effort to hold them. Naturally, this enlarges its capacity and will be reflected in better control at night.

This will take time, but eventually should result in your being able to sleep through the night in normal comfort. In the meantime, to avoid the unpleasantness of a wet bed why not set your alarm to go off about four hours after you have retired, or approximately (some nights) to go to the bathroom?

Be sure you are getting enough salt and sugar in your diet, both of which help the body to retain water in the tissues. Try two teaspoons of honey at bedtime and an extra sprinkling of salt with your evening meal. Then do not drink too many liquids during the evening.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Tell me in plain more, if this person were not my language, how does a nice woman find nice men? I am a very respectable unmarried woman of 42 who would like male companionship. I disapprove of going alone to bars. I have even thought of writing to a Lonely Hearts' Club, or registering with a Marriage Bureau that matches up people for a small fee. (They claim each applicant is thoroughly investigated and screened.) What do you think of the idea? I don't want to waste my life living alone. —RESPECTABLE AND LONELY.

DEAR R AND L: In this big, wonderful world no one needs to be "lonely." Try to make "yourself" attractive and "interesting" to men and women. (Women have brothers, cousins and friends who are eligible.) Get out and do volunteer, political or church work. Make yourself useful and needed. Investigations and screenings mean nothing. Most Lonely Hearts' Clubs and "Marriage Bureaus" are run for $5—not as a service to humanity. Don't fall for them.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 19-year-old girl with a problem I have never seen in your column. When I am on a dinner date with a young man and I am asked to order a beverage, I am stuck. You see, I love milk and drink it with all my meals at home, but it seems so babyish to order milk on a date. I don't drink coffee or tea, so it seems foolish to order it and take a few sips. It seems incorrect to order no beverage with my dinner at all, yet I feel funny ordering milk. Can you advise me? —MILK DRINKER

DEAR MILK DRINKER: For goodness sake, order milk! Your date is probably dying to order it, too, but he feels "funny" because you haven't taken the lead.

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column applied to me, but I didn't write it. My husband has a big-mouthed sister who tells everyone who mentions my name that I am her sister-in-law. This turns me up because as far as I'm concerned, I married my husband and not his family. Further-

DEAR ABBY: I have a very scruffy beard. My skin is awfully sensitive. When he kisses me and rubs his face against mine, my cheeks get red and itchy. We've been going together for six months and it seems to be getting worse. Maybe it's because he doesn't shave as often as he used to. Would you say I am allergic to him or what? —MELDA

DEAR MELDA: This does not sound like a true allergy in the strict medical sense (where personality conflicts create chemical changes). Your skin irritation is probably the result of his scruffy beard.

Ask your boy friend to return to his courtin' day shaving habits. This should help.

To learn the booby-trap of teenage drinking, write for "Ann Landers' booklet, "Teenage Drinking," enclosing with your request 30 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Eichmann Given Death Sentence

JERUSALEM (AP)—Under sentence to die, Adolf Eichmann put on the traditional red suit of a condemned man Friday to wait out an appeal.

Israel's special tribunal ruled he must die for "a crime of unparalleled enormity" into which he had put all his heart—an effort to "blot out an entire people from the face of the earth."

But the 55-year-old former SS colonel who headed Hitler's Jewish affairs bureau will not face the hangman before March.

His German lawyer, Robert Servatius, started work on an appeal to the Israeli Supreme Court. By law he has 10 days to file the appeal and at least five more days to state his reasons.

Servatius left for Germany after the sentencing but his assistant, Dieter Wechtenbruch, said he will inform Israeli authorities Sunday of his intention to appeal. Within the 15 days, on two grounds: That the court was not competent to try Eichmann, that there were sufficient reasons to pronounce other than the maximum sentence.

Decision on the appeal is not expected before March, and then the defense may ask President Izhak Ben-Zvi for clemency. The president cannot act without a recommendation from the government of Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion, which set up the special tribunal.

Eichmann, scarcely a fear-inspiring figure now, heard the sentence without uttering a word. His mouth was a thin slit. His hands hung open at his side.

Still the "block of ice," as he has been described by witnesses who survived Nazi Germany's extermination camps, he stood at rigid attention throughout the 17-minute proceeding.

Then he was led from his glass prisoners' cage and given the red suit worn by condemned men under an Israeli procedure adopted from the British. It was exchanged for the blue suit and white shirt which he has worn in his court appearances since last April.

Later, he will wait for the appeal decision in a death cell—Israel does not now have one as there is no capital punishment here except for war crimes.

Moshe Landau, president of the three-judge court, sat beneath the gold menorah, Israel's national emblem, as he read the sentence. "This court sentences Adolf Eichmann to death for the crimes against the Jewish people, the crimes against humanity and the war crimes for which he has been found guilty." He did not specify hanging, but that is the method of execution under Israel's "Nazi and Nazi collaborator's law" of 1950.

The sentence denied Eichmann's excuse that his role in the slaughter of six million Jews was in obedience to superiors. "Even had we found that the accused acted out of blind obedience, as he alleges, yet we would have said that one who had participated in crimes of such dimensions for years on end has to undergo the greatest punishment known to law, and no order given to him could be a ground for mitigating his punishment," the court said.

Eichmann, the judges said, "identified himself in his heart with the orders received by him and was actuated by an ardent desire to attain the criminal object." This aim, they said, was "to blot out an entire people from the face of the earth."

Eichmann, they said, "closed his ears to the voice of conscience as was demanded of him by the regime to which he was wholeheartedly devoted and to which he had sold himself body and soul. Thus he sunk from one depth to another until in the implementation of the 'final solution' he reached the nether hell."

His crimes were of "unparalleled enormity," the judges said. "Indeed, the dispatch of the accused of every train carrying a thousand souls to Auschwitz or to any of the other places of extermination, amounted to direct participation by the accused in one thousand acts of premeditated murder."

Corn, Wheat Yields Revised

WASHINGTON (AP) — The estimate of 1,357,272,000 bushels Agriculture Department's final report for 1960 and the ten-year (1955-59) port of the year put production of average of 1,094,770,000 bushels. The corn estimate is 755,000 bushels more than last month's forecast of 3,548,813,000 acres. It compares with last year's revised figure of 3,806,070,000 bushels and 826,000 bushels previously forecast. It compares with a revised average.

The wheat crop estimate is 23,879,000 bushels more than last year's revised figure of 3,013,797,000 for the ten-year average. It compares with a revised average.

TO PROTECT KENNEDY

Venezuela Army Is Put On Alert

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Venezuela's army and police maintained a 24-hour alert against possible last-ditch extremist attempts to create a terror atmosphere for President Kennedy's visit Saturday.

Intelligence sources were convinced the authors of a series of terrorist attacks and bombings were part of a small but well-organized group intent upon interfering with the President's visit and embarrassing the United States.

Venezuelan and American intelligence experts expressed confidence security measures by thousands of soldiers and militiamen under a single security command would fully protect the President when he gets here.

But they were aware a small group could create considerable confusion.

Terrorists who seized Radio Caracas Thursday for a one-minute broadcast against Kennedy, and attacked three American-run stores with gasoline bombs and pistols Thursday night were believed to have been Fidel Castro and Communist agents. Some of them may have been imported.

It is practically impossible to prevent such isolated incidents, but when all-out security goes into effect during the President's stay we expect no trouble," one American official said.

The leftists are estimated to comprise less than 1 per cent of Venezuela's 7½ million population. President Romulo Betan-ur has said about four dozen leftist have been engaged in the couping of terror, snatching anti-

Kennedy signs on walls and plastering cars with stickers.

The troops and militiamen, who have been gathering for days, kept off the streets, and their exact number was a secret. Official sources said published reports of 30,000 being here was an exaggeration, however.

"There are not 3,000 soldiers and police in the whole country," said one official.

Security measures included closing the 10-mile, six-lane highway which the President will take from the airport to Caracas when he arrives. It was along this approach to Caracas that Vice President Richard M. Nixon's car was stoned and spit upon by an angry crowd in 1958.

Police began stopping cars Thursday night and making spot checks for weapons.

Police arrested one leftist who had been wounded by a guard at one of two Sears department stores that had been attacked by raiding bands. A Sears store front was damaged by a gasoline bomb, and some youths barged into another shooting at the ceiling. Both stores were closed.

Many Americans living here have expressed reservations about the advisability of Kennedy making his flying visit, even though it is intended to dramatize the ambitious Alliance for Progress program.

They point out it would be regarded by Cuba's Fidel Castro and other leftists as a signal victory if small, militant, organized bands were able to turn the trip into a nightmare.

But most of the population shows signs of being eager to welcome the President.

Red China Aims Albania's Break With Russians

TOKYO (UPI) — The Chinese Communist regime informed the Chinese people for the first time Saturday that Albania and Soviet Russia had severed diplomatic relations.

Tiny Albania is China's closest Communist bloc ally and Peiping has defended the nation against Soviet charges that its leaders still were following the hard Stalinist line denounced by Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

The Communist radio in its daily summary of the Peiping press, said the official People's Daily, organ of the Central Committee of the Communist party, published news of the break Saturday.

In Belgrade, Yugo-Slavia, diplomatic sources said the Albanian masses were being prepared systematically to expect no military danger from Russia or its satellites but to prepare for trouble from Yugoslavia, Greece or the U.S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean.

The reports said the government had completed a census of males between 15 and 45 as part of the preparations to "defend" the country and imposed severe travel restrictions in Albania itself.

West Agrees To Negotiate With Soviets

PARIS (AP)—The Western nations resolved Friday to seek peace with the Soviet Union through negotiation while continuing their buildup against possible Communist aggression.

The foreign, defense and finance ministers of the 15 North Atlantic Treaty Organization nations ended a three-day conference with a joint endorsement of new contact by U.S. and British ambassadors in Moscow looking to a peaceful settlement of the Berlin crisis.

The ministers thus approved a fresh diplomatic exploration to determine if a basis for formal negotiation can be found. The United States, with British and West German support, has been urging a new probe to determine whether the Soviets are ready to confer about Berlin in good faith.

A communique said ministers of the nations "most directly concerned" informed the council of their intention to resume diplomatic contacts with the Kremlin on this subject.

"Their colleagues approved the resumption of diplomatic contacts and expressed the hope that a negotiated settlement could be achieved," it said.

This meant that France, which has opposed formal talks with the Kremlin on Berlin at this time, joined other NATO members in approving a diplomatic probe with the hope that this would eventually produce a favorable setting for East-West negotiations.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and British Foreign Secretary Lord Home had informed the council that Washington and London intended to resume contacts with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko on the Berlin dispute.

The NATO ministers agreed they must increase their defensive capability to give their diplomats a louder voice in East-West parleys, to deter Communist aggression and to protect their people in case all efforts for peace are fruitless.

Goldberg Departs For African Tour

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Labor Secretary Arthur J. Goldberg left by Air Force plane Friday for a five-day tour of three African nations as the President's emissary.

He was accompanied by his wife; his son, Robert, a student at Amherst (Mass.), and two Negro educators.

Goldberg will act as President Kennedy's special ambassador at independence ceremonies in Niamey, capital city of Niger.

On Tuesday, he will fly to the Congo for a one-day stopover in Leopoldville and possible conferences with leaders of the strife-torn nation.

He will visit Yaounde, capital of the Cameroons, then fly to the Virgin Islands with his family for a brief rest during the Christmas holiday before returning to Washington.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

THE CRYING STOMACH

The stomach is like a sensitive receiving set which tunes in to distant stations; at the same time it is an amplifier and loudspeaker which magnifies any notes of distress it may receive. It cannot refrain from weeping when its neighbors are in trouble, and its voice may be as loud as to drown that of the other.

This is the way Dr. William Boyd, professor emeritus of pathology at the University of Toronto, explains why some individuals develop typical symptoms of peptic ulcer even though the X-rays and exploratory operations fail to reveal a lesion. The stomach and duodenum have the same nerve supply as the other abdominal organs. It may be difficult for the brain to determine whether discomfort is originating in the large intestine, gall bladder, or stomach. X-rays usually pinpoint the culprit but not always; occasionally they lead to erroneous conclusions.

A man consulted me because of gnawing pains and tenderness over the stomach, which developed a few hours after eating. This was suggestive of ulcer. X-ray revealed a peculiar shadow near the exit of the stomach.

Surgery was advised because there was no other way to determine whether a malignancy was responsible. The stomach was normal but the gall bladder was infected and filled with stones. The surgeon removed the diseased structure and the man was cured.

In this case, the stomach complained too loud and overshadowed completely the wailing, ailing gall bladder. The shadow was created by sustained contractions of the muscles of the stomach as it was crying.

The nervous arrangement also explains why the pain of early appendicitis is located in the pit of the stomach, why so many abdominal conditions are accompanied by nausea and vomiting, and why so many emotional upsets are felt in the pit of the stomach.

B12 INJECTIONS

R. C. writes: What is the difference between a B12 and a liver injection? Which is the most potent in nerve degeneration?

REPLY

Vitamin B12 is more potent in the treatment of nerve degeneration caused by pernicious anemia. It is the active principle in liver. These products are of questionable value in the treatment of nerve degeneration from other causes.

ARTHRITIC HEEL

Mrs. M.K. writes: I have arthritis of the knees, neck, and ankles. Now my right heel has become so painful, walking is no fun. I weigh 300 pounds. What causes this heel condition and what can be done about it?

REPLY

Arthritis is the most logical explanation. You need to lose weight and obtain treatment before the joint surfaces in your heel are damaged beyond repair.

HEPATITIS AND JAUNDICE
N.B. writes: What is the difference between hepatitis and yellow jaundice?

REPLY

Hepatitis is inflammation of the liver. Most victims of this disease develop a yellow discoloration of the skin and whites of the eyes, which is jaundice. But hepatitis is only one cause of jaundice. It may be associated with gallstones, gall bladder disease, or other causes.

DON'T WALK ABOUT
H.S. writes: Should you stay in bed with walking pneumonia?

REPLY

Yes, because healing occurs more rapidly. The condition is so-called because the pneumonia is mild and the individual continues to be active. Many of the victims think they have a cold and feel fair except for cough and fatigue.

JURY OFFICIAL SAYS

Franklin Parish 'Basically Sound'

WINNSBORO (Special) — "Basically, Franklin parish is sounder financially than it has been since I have been here," Woodie R. Netherland, secretary-treasurer of the Franklin parish police jury, said in a year end report, and, Netherland added, "I see that it stays sound as long as I am here."

He has been with the police jury for the past 11 years. In his report, the secretary pointed out that even with a new courthouse, library building, health unit building, and a newly established rural fire department with three trucks ready to go at all times, the bonded indebtedness of the parish is only $390,047.50 which is the lowest it has been in the last 30 years.

Two Negroes Admit Wave Of Slayings

NEVADA, Mo. (UPI) — Two Norfolk, Va., Negroes Friday admitted killing eight persons en route from Virginia to Missouri. Joseph Riddick, 24, and William Potts, 17, told police they shot down their victims with a .22-caliber rifle, robbed them and then fled in a stolen car.

Authorities said five of the victims were slain in Virginia, two in Illinois and one in Ohio. Only two of the Virginia victims were identified.

A taxi driver, Earl Pinchbeck, 64, Victoria, Va., and a 50-year-old truck driver, William Frost, Savannah, Ga., were shot to death and both were robbed of $12.

Pinchbeck was shot eight times near the Lunenburg, Va., court house and Frost met his death while getting out of his truck at a Portsmouth, Va., restaurant parking lot.

Missouri highway patrolman John Atkinson said the truck driver was shot Sunday and the cab driver, Tuesday.

"There may be even more," Atkinson said. "We are only into Illinois with our questioning."

Riddick and Potts were arrested Thursday for failure to pay a bill. Their car stalled, they failed to pay the bill for assistance and the owner complained to authorities.

Potts escaped from the Virginia State Industrial School for Boys in Hanover County in September. Riddick was an inmate at the school but had been released.

Both were sent to the school on charges of theft.

The total assessment of Franklin parish is $18,048,465.00 and in ad valorem taxes $863,045.46 in ad valorem taxes are to be collected this year. Netherland explained that the police jury bank balance was never under a quarter of a million dollars.

However, one of the 18 police jury funds has been in trouble for several years. This is the Road and Bridge Fund. This department has been operating on money borrowed on the next years taxes and this year the borrowed money ran out in October. With the only money coming in being the monthly gasoline tax, the road and bridge crew is operating on a part time basis until enough tax money is received to pay off debts and loans, and then more money will be borrowed.

No money can be transferred from one fund to another. The road and bridge fund is financed by a five mill tax which brings in approximately $60,000 per year less $10,000 which goes to the sheriff and assessor; a parish gas tax which brings in about $60,000 per year, and aid in money and gravel from the state. A request by the jury for an additional two and one-half mill tax for this fund was turned down by the voters last year.

Other Franklin parish police jury which are in sound financial condition are General Fund; Library Fund; Drainage Maintenance Fund; Turkey Creek Game and Fish Commission; Road District No. 1 (Highways 15 and 17); Courthouse Bond; Interest No. 1; Courthouse Bond; Interest No. 2; Drainage Bond; Interest Fund; Road District No. 10 - A (Streets of Winnsboro); Withholding tax fund; Social Security Fund; Retirement Fund; Insurance Fund; Health Unit Fund; Health Unit Building Fund; and Fire Protection Tax Fund.

Nursing Home Is Being Built In West Monroe

A convalescent home for elder persons is under construction in Monroe near the new Glenwood Hospital and will cost approximately $100,000.

Excavation work was started last Friday and will continue as soon as the rain breaks, according to Jerry S. Hibbard, of Hibbard Construction Co., contractors of the job.

Jeff W. Caldwell Jr., and Hibbard have formed a corporation and will own and operate the nursing home.

Plans for the nursing home were approved by the Louisiana State Hospital Board and a permit was issued on Dec. 8 for the construction of the Ridgecrest Nursing Home.

According to Caldwell, the home will be equipped to accommodate up to 44 persons with adequate nursing care.

Private School Grants In Aid Are Approved

BATON ROUGE (AP) — The Louisiana Board of Education Friday unanimously granted the Ninth Ward Private School Co-operative in New Orleans $103,343 to cover 443 grants in aid.

At the same time the board, acting under requirements of a new state law, directed a $120,326 cut in state school funds for two New Orleans public schools now desegregated.

This was the first time Louisiana officially took action under its new grants in aid program to assure students a freedom of choice in attending classes.

The 443 grants in aid applications several weeks ago, filed with the Orleans Parish School Board, were forwarded to the state board by Supt. O. Perry Walker of Orleans Parish after he had processed them.

The Ninth Ward private school opened Dec. 4.

Under the $120,326 cut, a total of $68,736 in state equalization funds and $51,590 in per educable funds were cut off from the two public elementary schools, McDonogh No. 19 and William Frantz elementary schools.

They were the two first schools desegregated under federal court order last year.

Texan Is Given Five Days In Court Activity

A 61-year-old Texan was sentenced to five days in jail for theft Friday in light Monroe city court actively devoted mostly to traffic cases.

Judge W. M. Harper also ordered the Martin, Tex., man, Ralph G. Stone, to be held for fingerprint returns in connection with a charge of vagrancy against him.

Other action saw two men draw fines of $25 or 25 days on conviction of public drunkenness. One of them, Dan Fretwell, 49, of Mobile, Ala., also will await fingerprint returns in a case of vagrancy. The other was Richard Dees, 43, 2521 Greenwood Road in Shreveport.

Man Is Booked In Battery Case

Twenty-two-year-old Joe Thigpen of 208 Morris Dr. in Monroe was free last night under $300 bond after being booked earlier in the day by Monroe police on a warrant for simple battery. Officers said the offense allegedly was committed on the person of his wife, Jean Thigpen of the same address.

Youth Charged In Local Accident

West Monroe police Friday afternoon charged a 17-year-old local youth with reckless driving and causing an accident in connection with a minor crash in the 1100 block of the Arkansas Road. Booked was Walter W. Halbert of 405 Circle Dr. in West Monroe. Police reported that no personal injury and only slight property damage resulted in the collision.

Scholarship

RUSTON (Special) — Named to receive the Ruby B. Pearce Memorial Scholarship at Louisiana Tech was Judy Elaine Durham of Oakdale. She is the third recipient of the $300 per year scholarship, established in the memory of the late Mrs. W. F. Pearce, who was for several years the registrar at Tech.

U. S. Officials Are Cautioned On Yule Gifts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has circulated a cautionary note to government officials that it is against the law to accept Christmas gifts from subordinates or for gifts to be offered to official superiors.

And, says the memo made public Friday, accepting gifts from those doing business with the government is forbidden by the code of conduct laid down some months ago by President Kennedy.

The memorandum, sent to heads of all government departments and agencies, was signed by Timothy J. Reardon Jr., special assistant to the President.

"It is advisable," Reardon said, "to remind all employees in your agency of the restrictions, both legal and ethical, that apply in regard to giving and receiving gifts."

Reardon left room, however, for some Christmas exchange, offering this advice:

"The expression of our good wishes through appropriate personal greetings rather than gifts of material value will maintain the holiday spirit without the risk of misunderstanding."

Christmas Seal Usage Is Urged

Ouachita Parish citizens were urged to buy and use Christmas Seals today by Mrs. W. E. Krammer, board member of the Ouachita Tuberculosis and Public Health Association.

She expressed hope that the people of this area will not relax their vigilance against the menace of tuberculosis.

Quarter Horse Event Cancelled

The quarter horse grooming demonstration scheduled for tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the Pete Godwin farm south of Monroe has been cancelled, according to J. Floyd Kent, associate county agent with the LSU Agricultural Extension Service.

Kent said the demonstration would be reset for a future date when the weather was more favorable.

Sugar Quota Hike Is Seen By Freeman

ALEXANDRIA, La. (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman Friday said there would have to be an increase in sugar quotas but he warned farmers against planting more cane as a pressure tactic.

It would be "hazardous to make large expenditures on the assumption that quotas will be extended," Freeman told a News conference.

The agriculture secretary, here for a testimonial banquet that honored Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., Thursday night, would not make a statement on next year's rice allotment for the state. Ellender is chairman of the Senate Agriculture and Forest Committee.

Freeman said rice acreage will be based on a "projection of demand and consumption" and be as accurate as possible.

There were no indications Freeman would go to Crowley for a talk with rice growers, concerned about reports of a radical change in allotments. Freeman's Washington office earlier had announced he would talk with rice planters about quotas.

Freeman said prospects looked good for a forest products utilization center in Alexandria. He said plans for its establishment will get careful study.

The center would explore new uses for forest products.

Freeman also predicted 20 years from now the country will need 50 million fewer acres for agricultural production. The reason, he said, is due to technological advances in farming.

The secretary said he did not see any possibility that dairy marketing and practices would change to hurt Louisiana dairy farmers.

Freeman was closeted with Ellender all morning. He did not disclose the nature of their talks. Ellender said earlier Freeman had been trying to see him ever since the lawmaker returned from an extended overseas trip.

Eugene Nubles, 53, Succumbs; Services Today

Funeral services for Eugene Madison Nubles, 53, will be held Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the Sandy Grove Church near Holly Ridge with the Rev. Paul Raddin officiating and the Rev. W. A. Dearman assisting.

Mr. Nubles died Friday morning in a local hospital.

Burial will be in the McKnight Cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Maude Nubles; two sons, Harold Nubles, and Billy Nubles, all of Monroe; four daughters, Mrs. Edward Maroney, Mrs. Billy Morace and Miss Sandra Nubles, all of Monroe; and Mrs. Troy S. Rich Jr., Houston, Texas; two sisters, Mrs. W. H. Halleck, Rayville; and Mrs. M. H. Barnes, Monroe; and six grandchildren.

Market Biggest Business News

The stock market, because of historic price peaks and billion-share volume, was the number one business news event of 1961 in the opinion of managers for the 131 domestic and 16 foreign offices of Merrill Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Smith, Inc.

This marked the eleventh consecutive year that the poll was conducted by Investor's Reader, the business news magazine published by the leading worldwide brokerage firm. Results were announced by George A. Miller, manager of the Merrill Lynch office at Monroe.

Voted as number two was the good but not exuberant recovery of the national economy. The number three vote went to the SEC investigation of Wall Street.

Vaughn Rites Slated 3 P.M.; Died On Friday

Funeral services for George B. Vaughn, 40, will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday at the College Place Baptist Church with the Rev. Earl T. Ogg officiating.

Mr. Vaughn, who died in a local hospital Friday after a illness of several days, was a life-long resident of Monroe and was chairman of the board of deacons at College Place Baptist Church.

Burial will be in the Memorial Park Cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn Funeral Home of Monroe.

Survivors include his widow, Mrs. Catherine Vaughn; one daughter, Miss Janet Vaughn of Monroe and his mother, Mrs. Lucile Sutton Vaughn of Arcadia.

Pallbearers will be C. C. Kornman, E. L. Magnon, Dodd Brooks, R. R. Bushnell, M. L. Causey and L. G. Adams.

A luncheon and special program will be held from 12:30 to 1:30 in Gunby Dining Hall.

Judge Wright May Be Named To Higher Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Evening Star said Friday U.S. District Judge James Skelly Wright of New Orleans will be appointed to succeed retiring Judge E. Barrett Pretzman on the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia.

President Kennedy was expected to make the official announcement from San Juan, Puerto Rico, the Star said.

Judge Pretzman, 70, was quoted as saying he is retiring from regular active service but will continue to sit with the appellate court "whenever I'm needed."

Judge Wright, 50, became nationally known in recent years for a series of decisions ordering desegregation of schools and public places in New Orleans and other communities in his eastern Louisiana District.

The New Orleans States-Item said in a dispatch from Washington that Kennedy may nominate New Orleans attorney Frank B. Ellis, director of the Office of Emergency Planning, to succeed Wright.
